Suppose It Were Hostile. What Lincoln Said. Lowden on Hoover. Samuel Insull's Farms.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

AN AMPHIBIAN PLANE, catapulted from the French liner Ile de France, when 450 miles out, reached New York with mail 15 HOURS BEFORE THE SHIP GOT IN.

That's important as regards mail distribution.

It's ten million times more important from the point of view of national danger.

Suppose a foreign ship, or a fleet of foreign ships, 450 miles out, should catapult from their decks two or three hundred planes, carrying explosive bombs with poison gases, and send them to New York, or to San Francisco, or Los Angeles? What effect would they have on the country?

One single plane like the one sent from the Ile de France to Washington, D. C., could destroy the White House and the Capitol and fly back to the "mother ship." That ought to interest our "statesmen."

When bankers from New York told President Lincoln how much money they had at stake and demanded a warship in New York harbor to protect New York's treasure, President Lincoln said to them: "If I had as much money as you say you have, I'd build a battleship at my own expense."

Inasmuch as this Government finds it impossible to wake up, it might pay bankers and property owners of New York and other big cities to think a little about air protection, at their own expense.

Governor Lowden, a real farmer, "is much impressed by Hoover's speech," and "his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most urgent economical problem in our nation today." Governor Lowden is a real farmer, on a big scale, and has devoted much of his life to studying the farm problem. His approval of Mr. Hoover's speech will mean much to farmers.

Samuel Insull is two kinds of farmer. He raises queer yellow horses, that nobody will buy, north of Chicago. And on his real farm, the power business of the United States, he raises many millions of dollars, extending his farming from ocean to ocean.

He has done a useful thing in establishing a model "electric farm" to show farmers that they can save money, and reduce "help" by using electrical contraptions, pushing a button or throwing a lever, instead of "breaking" their backs.

Every farm should have electric power, at little cost, and would have if the people had brains enough to control their own power supplies.

However, since they haven't brains enough, they should be thankful for men like Insull and others that supply brains for a consideration.

Imagine the feelings of the Rev. Dr. Straton, head of a great Baptist church in New York city. While he was busy attacking Governor Smith on prohibition and other things, some snake in the grass discovered a "speakeasy" in a hotel at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., owned by the Rev. Dr. Straton himself.

Dr. Straton, who had just taken title to the hotel, was planning to make it a fine religious center for the Greenwood Lake Christian Assembly, summer music festival, Bible conference, school camp-meetings, etc.

In came a reporter with a bottle of Scotch whiskey bought from the hotel manager and late proprietor.

Dr. Straton sees a plot of the liquor interests planting that speak-easy on sacred ground. Speak-easies are planted without any plot, next door to police sta-

SEEK TROOPER'S ARREST IN RUM WAR

RASKOB AND GERRY ARE 'TRAPPED'

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and half a dozen others of Governor Smith's campaign advisory cabinet, had a narrow escape last night when an elevator in which they were riding fell more than two floors.

It imprisoned its occupants 20 stories above the ground for almost an hour.

Those riding with Raskob included Advisory Committee Chairman Sen. Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island and Mrs. Gerry, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Col. Herbert H. Lehman, campaign finance director; Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Congressman Parker Corning of New York and Dr. and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz.

The party was descending in an elevator at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel. The car failed to stop at the 23rd floor and fell until it was halted by mechanical safeguards between the 21st and 22d floors.

Raskob and Sen. Gerry were imprisoned in the car for half an hour and the other occupants were not released for almost an hour.

Sen. Gerry had invited the Smith advisers to his apartment on the 23rd floor of the hotel for dinner and a conference. After a preliminary conference they took the elevator to the 25th floor for dinner. It was on their return from dinner that the elevator failed to stop at

GOLD COAST 'ASSAULT' CHARGED

Warrants for the arrest, on assault and battery charges, of a State trooper and a Chelsea bridge patrolman engaged in the Brickbottom-Gold Coast rum blockade, will be sought in Somerville district court tomorrow by Attorney William R. Scharton, acting for a Gold Coast resident.

The applications will provide another court test of the right of the constabulary and city patrolmen to hold up and search the persons and vehicles of those entering the district, Scharton announced.

The court also will decide whether the search, as Scharton contends, constitutes an assault.

CALLS THEM TO COURT.

The Boston lawyer, who represents 23 residents of the district, 10 of whom are fighting padlock proceedings brought by Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, said he had notified both trooper and patrolmen through their superiors to appear in Somerville court tomorrow morning.

Both of the alleged assaults were made upon a resident of Smith st., Somerville, who is one of Scharton's clients.

The resident claims to have been held up and searched three times by the trooper and once by the patrolman.

If he is successful in obtaining the warrants, the attorney said he would seek others.

Each of his clients has been instructed not to venture from their houses except in company with another person so that corroborative

BABY CRAWLS TO HIS DEATH ON NEW HAVEN TRACK AT NANTASKET

Crawling to the tracks of the New Haven railroad at Nantasket Junction from his nearby home, 16 months old William Galuzzo was ground to death beneath the wheels of the "Millionaires' Special" bound from Duxbury to Boston today.

The train, speeding along to get its commuters into the South Station at 10 o'clock, roared down on the child before the engineer saw the tiny figure.

The special was stopped after the wheels had passed over the child's body, and after the remains had been removed, continued on its way.

According to the police, the baby took the opportunity when its mother, Mrs. William Galuzzo was busy, to crawl out the rear door of their home on Summer st. and into a field.

Unable to walk as yet, little Willie continued to crawl across the field, making his way through a small hole in the fence which borders the railroad line. He then crawled to the tracks, perching his small body on a rail as the Duxbury express swept down on him.

James Joseph himself, the redoubtable conqueror of Jack Dempsey, newly advanced into the ranks of social registerites through his engagement to Miss Mary Josephine Lawler, heiress to millions, was up at Greenwich, Ct., making a farewell call on some of his neighbors.

POLL OF NEW ENGLAND GIVES LEAD TO HOOVER

The New England states, outside of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, continue to pile up a substantial lead for Herbert Hoover over Governor Smith in the national straw vote being conducted by the Hearst newspapers.

Decided gains for Hoover were registered from the outlying sections of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. The large cities show a trend towards Smith, even in Republican centers.

One person was prostrated and enormous crowds were reported at the beaches, in the second day of the heat wave which is gripping Greater Boston.

After an uncomfortable night, with temperatures remaining high, the mercury started to climb today, but a shift of wind shortly after noon from northwest to northeast brought a two-degree drop and the hope of further relief.

At 6 o'clock this morning the official mercury reached its minimum of 74 and shortly thereafter it started its upward climb, reaching 88 at noon. Then came the shift of wind and the mercury dropped to 86 at 1 o'clock.

Patrick Doyle of Fallon pl., Cambridge, was the first heat victim reported. He collapsed in Central sq., Cambridge, and was taken to the Cambridge Municipal Hospital.

ARREST OF TROOPER SOUGHT

evidence may be obtained, Scharton announced.

AWAIT CRISIS MONDAY.

The second week of the rum war began today with the blockade by State troopers and city police still functioning and the area comparatively dry.

Liquor trafficking in most cases has ceased pending court action on two separate petitions for injunctions—one aimed to padlock 19 properties in the districts, the other designed to end the blockade and disperse the police guard.

Somerville and Cambridge sits. in the blockaded areas were practically deserted today and proprietors of the liquor "joints" openly declared they would make no attempt to resume business until the court takes action next Monday.

If Dist. Atty. Brackett is successful in his move to have locks upon 19 premises from which three previous convictions for liquor sales have been made, and the opposing petition for an injunction to restrain the police is defeated, open war will be declared, the bootleggers say, and they will reopen their places in defiance of the police.

Few vehicles moved in the blockaded area today, a week of stop-and-search conducted by the troopers having been enough for most drivers who frequent the districts.

TEMPERATURE ON THE DROP

Melvin D. Lawrence, manager of the State Bath House, Revere Beach, reported that at 12:30 the largest crowd for that hour on a week day had hired bathing suits. There were 2125 counted, and it was estimated that a throng of 55,000 was on the beach at tha ime.

Every available parking space from Eliot circle, near the State Pier, to the Point of Pines was in use, and cars were parked on all the side streets, notably Ocean ave. At 12:30 a thermometer in the shade at the bath house registered 85, with the water temperature 76.

Joseph Rossetti, life guard at the bathhouse, rescued an 11-year-old boy who got into difficulties while attempting to swim to the raft at the foot of Shirley ave. Rossetti made a quick dash down the beach in an automobile from the bathhouse and swimming out, reached the boy as he was going down for the second time.

The hottest August 15 in the history of the weather bureau was in 1872 when official mercury reached 92. In 1892 and 1911 reached 91.

FAIL TO FIND EXPLORER REPORTED DEAD IN NORTH

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 15 (AP)—John Hornby, explorer, reported to have been found dead in a cabin in the barren region west of Hudson Bay but believed by his friends to be engaged in farming on Lulu Island, could not be located in any of the settlements on the island. His name does not appear in any directories.

The report of his death in the North country came from Sergt. M. A. Joyce of the Royal Canadian Mounted police, who said he had found Hornby's body and those of two other men, described as Hornby's nephews, in a cabin on the north bank of the Thelon river. The three men apparently had died of starvation, the report said.

SACCO MEETING IN SOUTH END

The Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meeting on the first anniversary of the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, August 23, will be held in Scenic Auditorium, Berkeley st., South End.

Attempts to get other halls, including Faneuil, Symphony, Ford, Steinert, the Old South Meeting House and Tremont Temple, failed, according to members of the committee.

Winslow, Miss Catharine Huntington, Creighton Hill and Gardner Jackson.

The list of speakers includes Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, president of the experimental college at the University of Wisconsin and former president of Amherst; Edna St. Vincent Millay, poetess; Clarence Darrow; Robert Morss Lovett, professor of English at the University of Chicago; Arthur Warner, associate editor of The Nation; Rev. Dares Alligators in 50-Mile Swim Along Panama Canal

Panama, Aug. 15 (AP)—Richard Halliburton, American author, has started an attempt to swim through the Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, slightly more than 50 statue miles. He will swim during the day and rest at night.

The undertaking is attended by grave dangers, especially in Gatun Lake, which is infested by alligators. Halliburton will therefore be accompanied by a boat carrying a sharpshooter.

RUNAWAY AUTO CRUSHES GIRLS

Worcester, Aug. 15 (AP)—Miss Margaret Doyle, 13, suffered internal injuries which may result in her death, and Miss Margaret Lonergan, 13, suffered a broken right leg today when they were run down on the sidewalk in Vernon st. by a runaway automobile.

They were leaving the Church of the Ascension, where they had just attended mass. The machine is owned by Dr. John F. Rooney, who was also at mass, and it is believed that as the throng left the church some one tampered with the brakes and got under way on a hill.

WOMAN AND MAN HURT IN CRASH

A man and woman were injured, the latter seriously, today when their automobile was in collision with a truck at Broadway and Central aves., Revere.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ross of Robinson st., West Lynn, was thrown out of the car and received a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries. She was taken to Chelsea Memorial Hospital.

The automobile was knocked against a telephone pole and George A. Ross, husband of the injured woman, was cut and bruised. Ross was driver of the car, according to the police. The other driver, who was Christopher O'Connor of Nahant, police say, was unhurt.

Chicago Bombings Are "Malicious Mischief"

Chicago, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Chicago crime commission poured another broadside against the police today.

A report prepared by special investigators for the commission charged that more than 60,000 criminal complaints made to the Chicago police in the past two years have been supressed.

Bombings have been written on the police records as "malicious mischief," said the report, and attacks on women have been classed as "accidents." Complaints of pocket-picking have not gotten into the record at all in some instances.

RASKOB PARTY ESCAPES TRAP

Sen. Gerry's floor and slipped to the point where it was halted.

When the elevator finally stopped the entrance was chiefly on the 21st floor with a small part portruding over the level of the 22d. The doors of the hotel elevators are so arranged that they will not open unless the floors of the cars are level with the floor.

CLAMOR FOR HELP

Members of the party sought to attract attention to their plight by pounding on the elevator door.

It was half an hour before hotel employes were able to open the shaft door on the 22d floor, affording about a two-foot opening into the car. Through this opening Raskob and Sen. Gerry were able to clamber, but the other members of the party were imprisoned an additional half-hour until hotel engineers could bring the car to the 22d floor.

When word of the incident leaked out at Democratic headquarters today the hotel management made light of the occurrence.

"The incident was caused by a fuse blowing out," one of the managers said, "and this was quickly repaired as soon as it came to the attention of the engineering department."

The management said the car was stalled only 12 minutes, just the time it took to replace the fuse.

trunks was no small feat, even for Mahany. There were 20 suits of clothing, most of them grays and light browns.

There were two tuxedos, two dress suits and yes, a morning coat. As stated before, there was no high hat. Gene wears a black felt with his formal attire.

Also to go in were a dozen pair of shoes, two dozen suits of underwear, two dozen shirts, two dozen pair of socks and four dozen ties, most of the latter in fancy colors.

No powders for acnickness were included. Tunney, since crossing some 10 years ago as a passportless passenger among the Marines, considers himself a good sailor.

And of course there was a quantity of sports clothing, for the walking tour Gene is to make through England with Thornton Wilder, the novelist.

Fresh rumors were afloat today that the Tunney-Lauder wedding will take place in Italy soon. Tunney's two younger sisters sailed for Europe last week, it was pointed out, also with the plan of taking a walking tour.

They may have gone, it is said, in order to represent the family, if the wedding should be celebrated abroad.

GIRL, 15, SHOT 'ROMEO' OF 59

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Mary Arenci walked into the East 104th st. police station today and admitted that she had shot Sarferio Pantellena, a pedlar nearly four times her age, as he sat on the porch of an East Side tenement last evening.

Mary said Pantellena had taken advantage of her. She fired five shots at the 59-year-old man, one of which took effect in his left side. He was taken to a hospital where his condition was said to be serious.

After the shooting Mary told detectives she went home to tell her mother. The family—there are three other children—spent the night in a park, but this morning, with only ten cents for carfare, they all boarded a trolley and went to the station where Mary told her story.

BYRD'S POLAR TRIP TO COST FORTUNE

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Antarctic expedition of Commander Richard E. Byrd, which starts from this port next week, will be the most stupendous expedition in the history of exploration and may cost $1,000,000.

At the expedition's headquarters at the Hotel Biltmore it was said the cost would be not less than $750,000 and before the expedition returns to this country may reach $1,000,000.

Contributions received to date include $435,000 worth of equipment and $237,543.68 cash. Costs to be met by the expedition amount so far to $343,000.

The total expense of Commander Byrd's North Pole expedition in 1926 was $140,000.

The largest single item in the expedition's expense account will be the salaries of the 26 men, comprising the crew and scientists. For the two-year period this will total $90,000.

The next highest expenditures is for two airplanes and spare parts costing $70,000 and two ships, one of which cost $40,000 and the other $34,000. Two airplanes, tractors, much scientific equipment and food have been donated.

GREEK PRIEST BEATEN, FLEES IN LOWELL

Lowell, Aug. 15 (AP)—Rev. Joaquin Malahias, head of one of two factions of Holy Trinity Greek Church here, who have been at odds over control of the church for several weeks, was set upon and badly beaten by a crowd of men today.

The priest was cut and bruised before he escaped by jumping into a passing taxicab. He went to police headquarters, where he was given protection, while policemen rounded up several men, said to be members of the other faction in the church controversy, who were alleged to have been involved in the attack.

The differences among the members of the congregation, of which Mr. Malahias was the pastor, developed some time ago, and are now pending in court here. The faction opposed to the priest is now in control of the church, and for some time has maintained some of its members in the building day and night.

2 REVERE TOTS PRAY FOR DAD TO RETURN

Two Revere tots burst passionately into tears today as they realized that two months was an "awful long time" not to see their daddy and be denied his hugs and kisses. With childish innocence they could not understand why their father, Michael Jacobson of Walnut place, Revere, left home on May 5 and nothing should be heard of him since.

Morris is six and two years older than his sister Florence, and the big boy he is, consolation seems to be his special gift. But today he forgot and with arms clasped tightly about Florence they cried their little hearts out and told their story.

Mrs. Jacobson was much too overcome to volunteer any information, other than to say her husband had for 11 years been good and faithful, a devoted father and excellent provider.

That he should leave his home and family is irreconcilable to the little woman.

"My daddy's coming home," explained Morris. "Sure, he's gone to make money for us. But it is so long. Does it take so long to make money for little boys and girls, and my mother, too?

"He went away such an awful long time ago. Ma says two months. But, gee, I think it's like a year. Only ma kisses us good night. But pa used to tuck us in and he used to hear us say our prayers. Didn't he, Pa?"

A muffled yes from a little girl. A childish sob, a hurried brotherly rescue and two tots, clasped in each other's arms cried on.

Revere police were notified two days after Jacobson's disappearance. He had no money, but he did have an automobile. He is a bookbinder.

Invitations to witness this thrilling picture, filmed in the 28 newspaper plants of William Randolph Hearst, have been accepted by members of several leading civic organizations, including Boston City Club, one of the best known men's clubs in the country, and of Girls' City Club of Boston.

Officials of both these organizations are enthusiastic over the opportunity presented their members to go behind the scenes and observe how their daily newspaper is made.

They consider the film one of unusual value on account of the fact that so few persons have any concrete idea of the processes through which a newspaper passes until it emerges in completed form.

Washington, Aug. 15—Loading of revenue freight for the week ending Aug. 4 totaled 1,048,622 cars. This, the American Railway Association announced today, was an increase of 14,846 cars over the preceding week, and also an increase of 21,584 cars over the corresponding week in 1927.

SISTER THINKS 'HEADLESS GIRL' WAS SLAIN

A story told today by a sister of Mrs. Clara Bell Haslam, 35, Charlestown woman found decapitated by a train in South Boston, led police detectives to investigate on the basis of a foul play theory, or else an accidental death.

The first belief was that the woman might have been a suicide. But Mrs. G. L. Lougee, of the Malden district of Malden, scouted the idea, explaining that her sister, Mrs. Haslam, was to have visited the Malden family hours after she met death.

The police thought it might develop that the woman died accidentally, but they said they would conduct a searching inquiry to learn if there might not have been foul play.

"My sister was in fine spirits," said Mrs. Lougee. "She had telephoned me she was coming to visit me. She certainly was not in mood to take her life. I am sure of that."

COOLIDGE CITES ANTI-WAR PACT AS PEACE MAKER

Wausau, Wis., Aug. 15—President Calvin Coolidge interrupted his vacation on the Brule today to bring a message to the Wisconsin American Legion.

In his address, the President said:

"It is in accordance with our determination to refrain from aggression and build up a sentiment and practice among nations more favorable to peace, that we ratified a treaty for the limitation of naval armaments made in 1921, earnestly sought for a further extension of this principle in 1927, and have secured the consent of 14 important nations to the negotiation of a treaty condemning recourse to war, renouncing it as an instrument of national policy, and pledging each other to seek no solution of their disagreements except by pacific means. It is hoped other nations will join this movement.

"Had an agreement of this kind been in existence in 1914, there is every reason to suppose that it would have saved the situation and delivered the world from all the misery which was inflicted by the Great War.

"While it would be too much to suppose that war has been entirely banished, yet a new and important barrier, reasonable and honorable, has been set up to prevent it. This agreement proposes a revolutionary policy among nations. It holds a greater hope for peaceful relations than was ever before given to the world. If those who are involved in it, having started it will finish it, its performance will be one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed upon humanity. It is a fitting consummation of the first decade of peace."

WORLD WAR LESSONS

"We, the war proved a stupendous catastrophe for all those who were in it, and in 18 months destroyed values which it had taken generations to create, on the other hand its lessons can be made a great advantage to us.

"It gave us an opportunity to know the world and offered us a place in the world which we did not have before. It revealed to us to a large extent both our powers and our responsibilities.

"It demonstrated so clearly the interdependence of all people that we are not likely to hear again in responsible quarters that what other nations do is no concern of ours.

"Another result which the United States very much hoped to see secured was a broader application to the peoples of the different nations of the principle of self-government. On the whole the movement may be said to be strongly in that direction.

"During the war we heard much about man power. We found that it was a matter not only of quantity but of quality. The draft demonstrated to us our strength, but also our weakness. We found a very disquieting lack of education which reached into every State in the Union. Too many of our newer citizens did not understand the English language.

GAINS BY SERVICE

"We found that we needed not only a large number of people, but a large number of trained and educated people capable of putting forth a common effort through being able to arrive at a common understanding. We came to a new sense of our dependence on the individual and a new realization of the obligation of society to him and his worth to society.

"This has immeasurably raised both the economic and spiritual standards of our country. A citizen of the United States holds a new position, higher than that which was ever held in any past time. The opportunities which are enjoyed by our countrymen are far superior to those which ever come to any other people.

"Another fact which shines forth with a renewed brilliance is that many of the most precious rewards of life do not lie on the side of material gain. We have had a great deal of discussion concerning the situation of one person going into the service at a very small remuneration, while another remained at home in the enjoyment of very high wages.

"But I wonder how many of you who put on the uniform and went into action overseas would now be willing to exchange that experience for the few dollars of extra compensation that some one else was able to earn at home during the latter months of the war.

"Which one is now in possession of the most valuable treasure—the one who was at the front or the one who was securing high wages?

HIGH SCHOOL BOY HELD IN AUTO THEFT CASE

Edward F. Flood, 17, of Clark rd., Brookline, and described by Newton police as a Brookline High school student, was arraigned today in Newton district court charged with the larceny of an automobile. The youth was arrested in Concord for a violation of traffic laws and when he could show no license and registration admitted, police charge, that he stole the machine and went in it to Keene, N. H., on a joyride.

He pleaded guilty and the case was continued a week.

DAMAGE PRINTER'S SHOP FOR ATTACK ON SMITH

Evanston, August 15 (AP)—Profound uniformity was believed responsible by police today for the third attack on the print shops of Hiram Newton, printer of booklets attacking on religious grounds Gov. Smith's candidacy for the presidency.

The last attack resulted in damage of $300 to the shop.

EAGER TO SEE PRESS FILM

a thriller from beginning to end. The opening scenes show the sinking in mid-ocean of the British freight steamer Antinoe, the SOS flash from the radio room, its pick-up in the radio room of the United States steamer President Roosevelt, the rush to the scene, the hazardous and thrilling rescue of the crew as the ship wallows in the trough of a heavy sea.

Then comes the "flash" on the "story" in the newspaper offices, the race against time to write the story, make "cuts" illustrating it, etc., until it is on the street on the front page.

The "story" is followed through the newspaper plant, showing every process of importance. Scenes in the editorial department, composing room, engraving room, stereotype department, delivery room and mailing room, are pictured just as they are day in and day out. Nothing is forced. A modern newspaper plant just as it is unfolds on the screen and will amaze the average spectator.

PHOTOS BY WIRELESS.

One of the most interesting innovations in a newspaper office today is the transmission of photographs by wireless. This will be shown in operation.

How news comes in on electrically operated typewriter machines, from a central office, is shown as well as the manner in which telephone, telegraph, cable and radio are utilized. As these are two of the most essential factors in a modern newspaper office every possible invention that makes for speed is used, and all of these now in use are shown in the picture.

New inventions which help make a better newspaper more quickly have always had a place in Hearst plants.

Persons attending Loew's State Theater next week will leave with a fuller appreciation of the initiative necessary to get out a first class daily. They will, for the first time, have a clearer understanding of the romance and danger that are a daily part of the newspaperman's life. They will marvel at the value they get for the two cents they pay each day for their newspaper.

Closeups of some of the famous persons in the Hearst service will be presented, including pictures of Mr. Hearst at his California ranch; Arthur Brisbane, the world's most widely read editor, and several of the artists who create the "funnies."

JAPS AGREE TO CHINESE FLAG FOR MANCHURIA

London, Aug. 15 (AP)—A Reuter dispatch from Mukden, Manchuria, says the critical situation caused by Japan's stand against reconciliation between the Chinese Nationalists and Manchuria seems likely to be settled by a compromise. Manchuria would undertake not to oust the Nationalist flag for three months, after which Japan would agree not to interfere.

FIFTH OF FUND FOR AIRPORT TOWER RAISED

About one-fifth of the total amount needed for erection of the Aviation Memorial building and tower at Boston Airport already has been subscribed, it was reported at a meeting of the aviation memorial committee at Hotel Bellevue.

The sum on hand is $2,610, according to the report of Hahn Eastman, treasurer, State Street Trust Co., to whom all contributions should be addressed.

The memorial tower as planned will be the most beautiful and practicable building that could be conceived for the airport, Gardiner Fiske, chairman of the municipal aviation committee said at the meeting. He lauded the fine spirit of the men behind it.

RAPS RAILWAY MEN FOR FAILURE TO ARBITRATE

Chicago, August 15 (AP)—J. W. Higgins, chairman of the conference committee of managers of the Western Railways, today issued a statement presenting the railroads' views on the strike vote now under way by members of the order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen following the failure to arbitrate wage differences.

"In refusing to accept the offer of arbitration the union representatives have acted in disregard of the spirit of the Watson-Parker railway labor act and are imperilling its usefulness as a means of peaceful settlement of wage controversies," Higgins said.

PUPS BREAK OUT OF POUND; DOG CATCHER YELPS

The life of a dog constable is full of yelps and howls—Constable Wilbur Cutler of Revere unleashing a number of them today when he stemmed a wholesale "dog-break" in his personal pound after 10 dogs, some dogs had gone.

It all came about through the determination of an angry pup owner to rescue his pet mutt after Constable Cutler had corraled the bone crusher for operating himself around Revere without a license.

Since being appointed by Mayor Walsh last week, Constable Cutler has collected 75 hounds of as many descriptions, leaving only 4925 unlicensed dogs estimated to be at large in Revere.

Today he collected the 76th and put him in the pound he keeps in the parkway. Then he went out again and collected half a dozen more mutts that had no licenses.

As he came back to the pound, the distraught constable uncorked a squeal of anguish.

Dogs were leaping, one by one, through a back window. In the distance and disappearing rapidly, was a man with a Brooks-Bittern hound in his arms—the dog captured earlier.

Ten dogs had made their escape through the open window before the perspiring constable halted the exodus.

It was enough to make a dog constable sit down and have a good hard cry.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

End halitosis—it makes kissing a torture

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) has broken up many a love affair and friendship.

Don't fool yourself that you never have it. Because you simply cannot be sure of that. Halitosis never announces itself to the victim. But it does to others—and offends them.

Therefore, before meeting others, rinse the mouth with Listerine. If you have any evidence of halitosis, it destroys it. If you haven't (and you cannot tell) your mouth receives the benefit of a refreshing and invigorating treatment.

Halitosis yields to Listerine because it is a powerful deodorant. If you have any doubt of this, note how it removes the strong odor of onion and fish from the hands.

Keep a bottle of Listerine handy in home and office. Use it often. It pays.

STRAW BALLOT IN NEW ENGLAND STATES GIVE HOOVER LEAD

SMITH SHOWS STRENGTH IN SWITCHED G. O. P. VOTE

Hoover leads also in the vote being cast by women. The vote, however, given to Hoover by the fair sex is not quite as large as the vote extended to Coolidge four years ago.

Regardless of this fact, the vote of the women this year for Smith is twice as large as the vote given to Davis, in 1924, in the above three states.

A curious fact, and one worth watching, is the tremendous switching of votes in the states from Coolidge of 1924 to Smith. With Hoover leading Smith in practically every town so far tabulated, Smith carries off the honors with plenty of votes given him from the Coolidge admirers. The switching of votes are from men and women.

Boston is the main support of Smith in the Massachusetts tabulations. Even in Republican wards of the city the vote given to Smith is really surprising. The switching of votes throughout the city is almost universal, with Smith leading in this respect by almost 100 per cent.

That there is to be an influx of new voters this year is also an interesting fact brought out by the straw ballot canvass, carried on by the Boston Evening American, in connection with the nation-wide poll.

Many of them in the city state that they are to vote for Governor Smith. Outside of Boston, in the vote so far tabulated, many express an opposite view. It will be interesting to watch for the returns from Seattle, which may cut down the error Smith's lead materially.

Rhode Island to date insists that it is for Governor Smith. Many of the cities are still to be polled, as well as the towns. Providence, with as many of the votes recorded to date, is strong for the New York Governor.

With Laconia, Manchester and Lancaster, N. H., early returns tabulated shows that Hoover is having very little trouble in leading his Democratic opponent, about three to one.

Maine seems to be inflicted with the same desire, only the figures show that Smith is a trifle stronger in the Pine Tree State by keeping Hoover's lead down to a two to one figure.

Outside of Massachusetts and Rhode Island Hoover is in the lead getting the votes of the women, but the two former states are leaving Smith in the lead in this respect.

Ohio Drys Lead in Primary G. O. P. Vote

Columbus, O., Aug. 15 (AP)—Stirred by wet and dry issues, Ohio voters cast a record number of 838,000 ballots in yesterday's primary election.

Candidates supported by the Ohio anti-saloon league for state offices apparently were victorious in most instances on the Republican ticket, while the Democratic fight saw league-endorsed candidates defeated for the majority of the posts.

A possible defeat for the dry organization candidate was seen in the neck and neck race between Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, and Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, for the Republican gubernatorial organization. Cooper, the league candidate, polled 221,827 votes in 7831 out of 8635 precincts in the state, while Begg had 227,046.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, had a runaway race for the Republican short term nomination for senator. Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, and Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, were running a close race for the same nomination on the Democratic slate.

HOOVER STANDS FOR STRICTER PROHIBITION

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 15 (INS)—The American people can expect a lone-dry enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act to prove stricter enforcement of prohibition if Herbert Hoover is elected president, it was learned today on the highest authority.

All doubt over the Republican nominee's dryness was dissipated through the discovery of two Hoover utterances on prohibition, made back in 1918 under wartime law.

In a letter to George Wickersham, July 4, 1918, in reply to a request from the Texan that Hoover, as food administrator, curb the brewers throughout the country, the presidential nominee wrote:

BEER LESS HARMFUL

"If brewing is stopped, beer would disappear from the liquor trade within one or two months and the whole country would be put practically on a whiskey, brandy and gin basis, with some supplies of wine, instead of a large proportion of their customers being served with a drink 2% per cent alcoholic content, and therefore, from a temperance viewpoint, much less harmful.

"It raises the very serious moral problem as to whether infinitely more damage will not result from such action than in a continuation of the use of this limited amount of foodstuffs in brewing. It does appear to be that the losses in food are entirely secondary to the moral and physical dangers.

"You are probably aware that I have been a lifelong believer in national temperance."

The following day, June 5, 1918, Hoover issued a public statement, saying:

"If we stop brewing, the saloons of the country will still be open but confined practically to a whiskey and gin basis. Any true advocate of temperance and of national efficiency in these times will shrink from this situation, for the national danger in it is greater than the use of some 4,000,000 bushels of grain monthly in the breweries.

"If the American people want prohibition, they should prohibit by legislation to that end and not force the food administration to the responsibility for an orgy of drunkenness. It is mighty difficult to get drunk on 2¾ per cent beer; It will be easy enough if we force a substitute of distilled drinks for it.

DIGEST OF DRYS.

"The food administration has gone as far as it can toward temperance without precipitating a worse situation. If the American people or Congress will stop the sale of distilled liquors, the administration will find no difficulty in stopping wine."

Since these utterances, the American people wrote the eighteenth amendment into the Constitution and Hoover has declared against its repeal. In the opinion of his friends here, he stands committed to the dryest kind of prohibition enforcement.

Hoover planned to spend another day quietly resting at his home, pending his trip back to Washington, Thursday night. His only visitor was to be George Wingfield, Republican leader from Nevada.

BAR DEMPSEY FROM WIFE OF KEARNS

Long Beach, N. Y., August 15—Believed to be a victim of poison, Mrs. Legana eKarns, wife of Jack Kearns, was reported in a dying condition at Long eBach Hospital today.

The wife was declared a victim of mysterious illness, thought due to poisoning.

The stricken bride of the fight manager asked to see Jack Dempsey, who won the heavyweight championship under Kearns. Physicians attending her, however, informed Dempsey, in New York, that no one would be admitted to the sick room.

Dempsey then ordered one of his representatives to go to the hospital to see that everything possible be done to make her comfortable.

The former heavyweight champion knew Mrs. Kearns when both were in vaudeville and has remained on friendly terms with her despite his break with her husband.

KEARNS SUED DEMPSEY

Dempsey and Kearns had their famous parting of the ways several years ago, the break being caused principally by Dempsey's marrying Estelle Taylor, film star.

When they agreed to disagree, the former heavyweight champion and his manager split their joint holdings, including a West Coast hotel and apartment block. Later Kearns sued Dempsey several times, alleging breach of contract, and much bitterness cropped up between the two, notables.

Efforts to get in touch with relatives at San Francisco were unsuccessful. Kearns is believed to be on the west coast, but his address is unknown.

PHONES FOR DEMPSEY

Mrs. Kearns was taken ill while staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Snyder, near here.

Jacob Klein, Mrs. Kearns' attorney, called at the hospital and drew up a will for Mrs. Kearns, it was said at the hospital.

Specialists were attending her. Great secrecy has been thrown around the case.

Dempsey, who formerly was associated with her husband in the prize ring, but recently has been his bitter opponent in the courts, was notified of Mrs. Kearns' illness early today. Mrs. Snyder is reported to have telephoned Dempsey, knowing no one else to turn to and asked him to get in touch with Mrs. Kearns' attorney, Jacob Klein. This Dempsey did.

Mrs. Kearns was formerly Miss Legana Angel. Her marriage to Kearns was announced last April.

Col. House Out for Smith; Sees Dry Issue Dominant

Wenham, Aug. 15—Prohibition is the dominant issue of the presidential campaign, Col. House asserted today at the summer home of his daughter, Mrs. Randolph F. Tucker.

Col. House, although declaring he did not care to discuss men or issues in the campaign because he is now out of politics, characterized Gov. Al Smith of New York, Democratic nominee, as "a man that knows more about government than any man in America."

Smith and Robinson will get his vote in November, Col. House said, and his hope is that the Democrats will be elected.

He expressed belief that the South will be for Smith and that Texas, after a hard battle, will swing to Smith.

HUB TRAFFIC IN RECORD SNARL

One of the worst traffic tangles in the history of olston police occurred today as a result of the activity of the public works department in laying a tar dressing on a short stretch of Washington st., in Newspaper Row.

Diversion of traffic through the Row caused jams in all the narrow, adjacent streets which normally are near the saturation point during the busy hours.

The northbound flow along Washington st., was diverted down Milk st.; School st., was shut off at Province st., and the line of machines coming from Beacon st., was detoured along Tremont st., to Scollay sq., thence along Cornhill, through Adams sq., Devonshire st., and back to State st., where it met the flow from Milk st.

It was estimated at City Hall that the resurfacing work on Washington st. will be completed by Saturday night.

SMITH AGAINST ANY TARIFF TINKERING

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (INS)—Governor Al Smith, in his address a week from tonight, accepting the Democratic presidential nomination, is to serve notice on big business that, in the event of his election he has no intention of tinkering with the tariff. It was declared by close friends today.

As on previous occasions, he will strike out bluntly at prohibition and declare that he has never urged the repeal of the 18th amendment, but that he does believe the Volstead law should be modified in the interest of temperance.

FOR FARM RELIEF.

Because he regards farm relief as one of the major issues of the campaign, the Governor, it is understood, will devote a considerable part of his acceptance speech to this subject.

Should he be elected, the Governor plans to call a conference of farm experts to work out a concrete relief plan for submission to Congress at its opening session.

The Governor's address is understood to contain 10,000 words and he is expected to require about an hour to deliver it.

The notification ceremony, which will start promptly at 7 o'clock, daylight saving time, next Wednesday night, will be carried to all parts of the world through 30 radio stations. Senator Key Pittman of Nevada will preside and formally notify the Governor of his nomination. More than 100,000 persons are expected to hear the address at the State Capitol itself, where it will be delivered from the front steps upon which 2500 party leaders and other notables will be seated.

SEES DANIELS TODAY.

From Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., former Secretary of the Navy, the Governor today will receive first-hand information of the political situation in the South.

Tomorrow Senator Walter F. George of Georgia is coming to the Executive Mansion to tell the Governor of the situation in his State, and on Friday he will have Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana as his guest.

The Governor conferred at the mansion until late last night with Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, and Norman Davis of New York, both of whom were close to the late President Wilson.

CEDAR RAPIDS PLANS HOOVER RECEPTION

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 15 (INS)—Plans were completed here today for the reception of Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for President, next Wednesday and Thursday when 50,000 people are expected. The main part of the nominee's time will be devoted to receiving farm delegations and discussing their problems.

Hoover will receive a delegation of Iowa farmers and give them an hour and a half to present their side of the troublesome question. On Thursday morning he will receive farm delegations from several states.

Hoover has consented to head an industrial and agricultural parade on Aug. 23. Thirty thousand people are expected to take part in it.

Another investigation has been started of rumors that a secret Russian radio station is being erected on the Swedish east coast in connection with Sweden naval maneuvres in the Baltic.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN — WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1928

"GOODBYE, KIDDIES"

The Zittenfield twins, Bernice and Phyllis, start their 32-mile swim from Sandy Hook to the Battery.

Swim Record

The Zittenfeld twins, Phyllis and Bernice, today were basking under new honors, won through their aquatic prowess.

At 9:15 o'clock last night they climbed out of New York harbor at the Battery, after completing a swim from Sandy Hook, over a course of 38 miles in 7 hours 41 minutes. They entered the water at Sandy Hook at 1:34 p. m.

Both of the twins seemed fresh when they clambered out, and declared:

"We could swim back the same way right now."

The time the twins set up for the swim today was six minutes less than that made by Gertrude Ederle in 1925, swimming from the Battery to Sandy Hook.

Two U. S. Yachts in English Race

The course is from Cowes through Spithead, between the Isle of Wight and the mainland, thence around the Fastnet lighthouse at Ushouish, a distance of 605 miles.

There was a moderate westerly breeze at the start with prospects of heavier weather ahead for the fleet of 70 yacht. They include the Royal Engineers' Yacht Club, was first away. The Malabar started today and the Nina tomorrow. The race is expected to last 5 days.

RAY BETTERS OLYMPIC MARATHON RECORD

Dublin, Aug. 15 (AP)—Joie Ray of the United States won the Tailteann games Marathon run from Mayon to Dublin today.

Ray won easily from the South African, Scheffer, with Adams of Scotland third and the native Irishmen, O'Reilly, Doyle and McKeon, filling the next three places.

Joie was on with the leaders all the way and took the lead a couple of miles from the finish. The time was two hours 31 minutes 24.5 seconds, which is more than a minute faster than that made by the Algerian, El Ouafi, in winning the Olympic marathon for France in August 3. Ray was fifth in that event.

Ray's time also clipped over a minute and ten seconds from the Olympic record set at 2:32:33.4/5 by Hannes Kolehmainen, of Finland, in 1920 and was the fastest of the four marathons held here under the former auspices of the Irish national athletic body.

The course was a hilly affair, with the exception of the first few miles, and the Irish won one of the strongest contests in athletic history. At the last Tailteann games held here in August of 1924, Joie ran second in the 10,000 meter event, Ray Bailey, of the American Olympic team, finishing first in that event, since at the games, he ran more than 25 miles that distance.

Scheffer, a strapping South African farmer, finished with that 50-mile lead over Ray, in the Olympic marathon, and the latter took back the first lap around the Olympic stadium, but Ray stayed ahead of him as they went through the motions to the road contest.

Harold D. Osborne of the Illinois A. C. won the standing broad jump with a leap of 10 feet 8½ inches.

Maloney Is Set for Big Battles

By GEORGE GRIMM

Jim Maloney of South Boston is knocking at the door of fame once more. The Peninsula heavyweight has battered his way up toward the top again.

The big broth of a boy has knocked out four opponents in a row. He has looked better in each triumph. James seemed to be a real title contender while he was pasting Tony Fuente at the Argonne show at Braves Field.

Tony did everything in his power to stave off the attack of the South Boston heavyweight who is going great guns. In the fifth round Maloney let fly one of his terrific right hand punches and Fuente went down in Maloney's corner for the count of one. He got up and limped about the ring.

ALTHOUGH he came out for the fifth to take another volley of body and head punches from Dynamite Jim, he gave up the fight, saying that it was impossible for him to continue.

From the very first bell Maloney went out in front, smashing Fuente with left and right. Maloney's left jab was most effective, while his healthy right hand uppercuts and hooks did considerable damage.

The invading heavyweight was a willing battler until he decided to call it quits. He waded in with Maloney and tried hard. Maloney had a wide margin throughout the contest, however, by his daring attack.

Bill Hartwell defeated Jake Warren in ten rounds. Eddie Callahan knocked out Owen Flynn in five rounds. Johnny Lynch defeated Pat McLaughlin in four rounds, decision. Tom Quigley defeated Bunk Maloney in four rounds. Phil Flanagan defeated Pat Grant in six rounds. George Glover defeated Charlie Rammell in four rounds.

RISKO FAVORED OVER BIG ROBERTI

By DAMON RUNYON

New York, Aug. 15—What a scrambling of the heavyweight eggs there will be if perchance Signor Roberto Roberti, the tall aspen of the Alps, bears a large right hand against the chin of Rubbery John Risko over in Ebbets Field tonight.

For some reason Rubbery John is given the rail post position, as we say in the paddock, in the field of beefy bearcats entered for the astounding retired Mister Gene Tunney's former guilt. I mean job.

Rubbery John is put ahead of the terrible Sharkey man, Paolino and all the others, wherefore a cova who can clip Rubbery John is bound to be given plenty of consideration.

The Sour Science can produce no man who has gone farther on less gas in the way of ability than Rubbery John. He can't punch and he can't box.

But he has made over $300,000 in the past two or three years, and he will probably make as much before he hangs up the Everlasts. And I'll tell you why.

He is one of the best "club fighters" that the heavyweight division has ever seen. That is to say, he gives the clients plenty of action.

They know that any time Rubbery John bounces into a ring there will be a fight, because he makes the other fellow fight.

Rubbery John starts bouncing at the opening bell, and he never lets up until the finish.

He is a one-style, one-punch fighter, swarming in on his opponent throwing left hooks. But the idea is he keeps swarming, and keeps throwing.

That style and that punch is better for the entertainment of the client than a varied style and a variety of punches exposed sparingly.

ROCKNE WILL SUPERVISE FOOTBALL AT ST. THOMAS

St. Paul, Minn., Aug 15 (AP)—Knute Rockne, University of Notre Dame coach, was today named as general supervisor of football by the Rev. Matthew Schumacker, C. S. C., new president of the institution.

Under the plan outlined, Rockne would have general supervision over the football activities at the college, with Father Joseph Gibbs as athletic director. This work would necessitate frequent visits by Coach Rockne during the training period and playing season.

Giants Seem Headed For N. L. Pennant

By NICK FLATLEY

The New York Giants are prepared to flatten are Western clubs in the National League and win themselves another pennant.

This was evidenced by the manner in which the McGrawes bombarded the Cubs in their first explosion on a new Western trip.

The Giants, only two and a half games back of the Cardinals, have been chopping down the lead steadily for more than a month. They have won nine of their last 10 games, while the Cards have been beaten six times in as many contests.

New York appears to be coming with a head rush for the finish, while St. Louis, after carrying the banner all year, is slipping. The signs right now seem to point toward a Giant triumph.

There are still six weeks of baseball ahead, and anything can happen over that stretch. The Giants may stomp on this expression over the Western loops, as they did before.

Last time they were in the far parts the New Yorkers won four games out of six. They were beaten by four Western clubs—the Cards, the Cubs, Reds and Pirates. But times have changed.

The wealth that the McGraw club showed against the Cubs in the opening series of their new invasion was significant.

Nick Flatley.

CHICAGO has been a tough club to beat at home all year long. The Mccarthy boys have been hard on the road, but their deeds on their own orchard have kept them right around the crest. They still had hopes when the Giants marched in. But the way the contenders corralled three or four of the pet pitchers yesterday proves that the Giant drive is something more than a gesture.

If New York can get the edge in the present excursion, the team will be just about set to go back home and finish the season in first place. Manager McGraw, after a troublous first half season, seems to have his club trotted out and raring to go.

The Cards show signs of cracking, which is natural enough. The club took the lead early, and stuck on there, despite a lot of fierce competition immediately in the rear.

Bill McKechnie is worried now. He is shifting his team around, chasing in subs for the regulars who have made such a gallant fight. That, it might be mentioned, is the spirit that the Card spirit is waning.

THE Giants have two tough spots in this swing of theirs. They must beat St. Louis decisively and the sale but desperate drive of the Pirates. The Cubs and the Reds have cracked, to all intents and purposes, and left the fighting to the Cards, Giants and Pirates.

The St. Louis club was consistently good all year, building a rampart from New York last week. There a couple of games were tossed away and that disaster seemed to ruin the machinery. Three more were dropped before the team could get back on the victory road by whipping the Braves. A couple of loses five in a row in a fourth race assuredly is no fun any way.

The McGraws have rounded into a fast, hard hitting club with plenty of pitching. They are coming along with power and spirit, often the leaders are showing their first signs of willing. Unless the Pirates mend things up, the Eastern contenders will have the home over the last month of the campaign.

CARL MAYS IS LET GO BY CINCINNATI TEAM

Cincinnati, Aug. 15—Pitcher Carl Mays was given his release by the Reds.

Mays came to Cincinnati in 1924 from the Yankees. He won 20 games that year.

This season he won four and lost two. Neuntic licked him.

Slim Harriss Faces Indians at Fens

Bryan Harris will try to give the Red Sox the edge in their series with the Cleveland Indians at Fenway Park this afternoon.

Bryan claims that he is better right now than at any time since he joined the Sox, and Bill Carrigan is inclined to believe him.

Bryan went in for a couple of innings Saturday against the Yanks and looked like one of the best pitchers ever discovered. The tall boy has been warming up daily, and the exercise has taken the kink out of his arm. He should be quite a winning pitcher from here in.

Roger Peck of the Indians intended to use his star southpaw, Joe Shaute, in this third game of the series. Roger must keep his club in fifth place to retain self-respect in critical Cleveland. His left handers have been beating the Sox all year and look like a tough obstacle considering the present condition of the native array.

Buddy Myer and Gerber, not to mention other athletes, need large doses of rest. They have been the real stars of the team all year, so their absence is felt very decidedly.

TILDEN MAY BE ASKED TO PLAY

New York, Aug. 15 (INS)—Following the withdrawal of Francis T. Hunter from the annual East-West tennis matches to be played at Forest Hills next Saturday, a conference of officials was to be held today to consider the advisability of extending an invitation to William T. Tilden to enter the intersectional tournament. Hunter, second only to Tilden in the national ranking, withdrew as a gesture of loyalty to "Big Bill" when the latter was not invited to participate.

Hunter said he had been informed that Schuyler Van Bloem, who is in charge of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association's affairs at present, Walter L. Pate and another official would attend the conference today. Van Bloem, however, is understood to oppose the issuance of an invitation to Tilden.

Hunter declared that Tilden was eligible to play in the matches and that he (Hunter) would not participate unless the eastern team included the Philadelphian.

Gibson Says Gene Was Poorly Advised

Billy Gibson, late manager for Gene Tunney, certain that the retired champion's exodus from public matters is complete, just as he is certain that his own retirement from the boxing game is permanent. Gibson added that he believes and has told the retired champion of his feeling that Tunney should have been more frank with the public about his plans. Gibson said he thought Tunney's attitude about his whole transition from active service from certain of his friends who did not appreciate the great interest sporting fans have in champions.

Fine Golf Tourney Starts Today at C. C. of New Bedford

30 PRIZES FOR MANY CLASSES

Contestants Are Sure to Get Plenty of Good Competition

By BILL GRIMES

New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 15—If the Greater Boston golfers were aware of the treat in store for the contestants in the second annual Country Club of New Bedford invitation tourney, picketing would go on unmolested.

The entire local police force would be called to straighten out the turmoil brought on by T. Hayles, Harry Gerrioke and Gus Wilken, who are responsible for this three ring circus.

A year ago, all but 15 of the 107 starters were post entries. Last night, over 100 had entered and there is every reason to believe that the second annual New Bedford invitation will attract close to 200.

There is little hope for the player who has not had his fill of golf at the close of this tournament. The field is passing on 18 hole qualifying round today, after which the players will be divided into five classes, according to their success.

AFTER the first round of match play five new classes, beating 8's of each division, will be formed.

On Friday there will be a four ball best ball tournament and while the championship flight 36 hole finals are being played on Saturday, the remainder of the field will take part in a 36 hole handicap medal play event.

The Country Club of New Bedford is offering 30 prizes. The low scorer of the qualifying round will be given a gold medal, and there will be awards for the runners-up and those up in each division, as well as for the finalists in the five beaten eight classes.

Then, too, there will be two great and two net prizes for the four-ball event, as well as for the 36 hole medal play tournament scheduled for Saturday. Also the ladies were not forgotten, for those trophies have been donated for the winners of their 18 hole putting match.

With the exception of a traveling bag, a zipper and a cocktail shaker, every prize is sterling silver, and the array of trophies gathered by Gus Wilken is one of the finest ever offered in any golf tournament.

ALTHOUGH Joe Morrill, Jr., of the Dedham Polo and Country Club, who defeated A. T. Bliffinton of the Fall River Country Club in the finals of the championship flight last season is in Europe, and therefore will not be able to defend, Jes Lasset, 2d, of Whittinsville, last year's medalist, is on hand. Lasset was put out of the running last season by Charles Ryder, who has been club champion here many times.

Among the better known golfers who are competing are Warren Hoskins of Country Club fame, A. T. Buffington, Willis Howard, the well-known Harvard baseball and hockey player, Bobby Goodale, who played in that famous match with Jimmy Conroy in the State junior championship two years ago at Wood land, Mike Cody of Concord and J. W. Fitton of Tuxney Log.

New Bedford is placing its hope on David Whiteside, who is the present club champion, both Sease, Jr., the former Dartmouth player, and Charlie Ryder.

Mike O'Grady, the greenkeeper, has the course primed for the tournament. Due to the recent downpour, the greens are soft and the field is going to experience plenty of trouble around the edges.

Fred Cannon will represent the Massachusetts Golf Association and is in for a busy four days.

Tack Hardwick Has Friends at Fight

Tack Hardwick who is associated with the Boston Garden-Arena Gardens directorate had a party of friends at the ringside for the Maloney bout.

Included in the party was Treasurer Carey of the New York Madison Square Garden.

The former Harvard football player and his friends enjoyed the bouts.

OWNER COMPLIMENTS ASSISTANT HIGHLY

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 15—Willis Sharpe Kilmer, owner, and breeder, paid a fine old man of racing a fine compliment when he said: "William Carroll is now a part of my institution. The three years he has been with me and my horses have proved that he is a wonderful horseman. I shall not give him up. If I should be obliged to do so, I fear I might have to give up racing."

BRAVES PILOT CONFIDENT

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15—Rogers Hornsby has tossed his hat into the Western ring to give the Cardinals, Giants, Reds and Pirates the best he has on the Braves shelf.

He is not making any forecast as to the final result, and today he explained "seventh placers cannot do much shouting. The less said, the better off we will be.

"I have some pitchers who are going pretty good at present, and if they spread their stuff and the batters assist them a bit, I hope to be able to disturb these pennant contenders."

Kent Greenfield, who displayed signs of his remarkable 1927 form when he beat the Superbas with three hits last Saturday, and Bob Smith, who nipped Grover Alexander at home recently, will finish the current series.

Art Delaney, who won from the Cardinals on their last visit, was the starting pitcher in the first game of the series, but he was unable to complete the d—y and the Braves were beaten, 6 to 1.

The Cardinals at present are not putting out the aggressiveness that characterized their pennant spurt in mid-season. They resemble a club that is staggering, and in a week's play their lead was sliced from 6½ games to 2½.

MELLO TO BOX IN SPRINGFIELD

Al Mello, New England welter weight champion, is in for a bitter testing next Monday night at Springfield, when he clashes with Claude Lee, flashy colored welter. The bout will be the feature under the auspices of the West Springfield Arena.

Lee has become a big favorite in Springfield because of his several sensational battles there. In his last three starts he has bayoed Tony Travers of Connecticut, won decisions over Jack Brady of New York and Jimmy Finlay Louisville, Ky.

Despite Mello's reputation and the fact that he is New England champ Lee has many backers in the western part of the State, and they are willing to back Lee at even money.

Mello has started training for the bout at Toland's gym. He will leave for Springfield Sunday night.

PRINTERS' NINE VS. NEEDHAM

The Union Printer's Baseball nine from Cincinnati, which meets Needham tonight at Needham, has proved itself worthy of all the publicity given it since invading the Hub. The Cincy nine, a strictly amateur outfit, is a fitting testimonial to organized amateur baseball.

The Union Printer's outfit will finish out the week playing around Greater Boston and leave Sunday morning for Montreal. From there they go to Toronto, Niagara, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland and then to home.

The team will have been on the road eighteen days. They left Cincinnati last Wednesday.

Carl Schoell will pitch for the Union nine tonight at Needham. Schoell showed a world of big league stuff on the mound against the Atlantic A. A. when he pitched a three hit game while his teammates pounded out six runs.

Peterson Comes Here to Train for Sharkey Go

BIG BOY FIT TO FORCE EX-GOB

Sharkey Will Have to Step to Outpoint Peterson

Big Boy Peterson, heavyweight champion of the Middle West, will arrive here tomorrow to complete training for his 10-round battle with Jack Sharkey at Fenway Park a week from tomorow night.

Peterson will train here for a full week at one of the local gymnasia.

PETERSON whipped Von Porat not more than six months ago, and only a few month. back came here to outpoint Ernie Schaaf in a 10-round bout at the Arena.

The visitor from the Middle West is without a doubt one of the best young heavyweight prospects in the country.

He is taller than Sharkey, rangier and has a longer reach.

A victory will make him the outstanding heavyweight in the world, for Sharkey is uncrowned heavyweight champion and his erstwhile title will be tossed into the ring every time he swings into action.

The bout will be the nearest approach to a heavyweight championship contest ever staged in a Boston ring.

Throughout the length and breadth of the country, Sharkey is regarded as the only logical contender for Tunney's title. Sharkey has speed, punch, boxing ability and courage.

The local heavyweight is inspired with his chances once more. He knows that the road to the heavyweight title is wide open, and don't forget that Sharkey is a great front runner.

HE is training with all the enthusiasm of a beginner at Stillman's Gymnasium in New York, according to the New York papers, and will undoubtedly be in the best condition of his career when he steps out in his first local appearance in two years.

In addition to the eight round semifinal between Laddie Lee and Jimmy Amato White and the six rounder between Joe Tavelleri and Young Gravino, two more eight round bouts are being signed by Matchmaker Bob McKirdy, and it is expected that the full card will be announced within a few days.

Popular prices will prevail.

Reservations may be made at the Arena A. C., 333 Washington st., room 310, or by telephoning Hubbard 4642 and Liberty 8705.

TED LEWIS ON ARGONNE CARD

"Ted Kid" Lewis, English middleweight, who has developed into one of the most dangerous punchers in the ranks of the 160 pounders will return to the Hub after an absence of many years, when he clashes with Arthur Flynn, Lawrence schoolboy in a 10-round bout on the Argonne A. C. dead week windup at Braves Field next Tuesday night, August 21.

In the other 10-round battles on the same card, Promoter Eddie Mack has clinched a meeting between Jack Hunneford, the Belgian Ironman, who met Jack Delaney, Roberto Roberti and Jack De Mave, in this city, and Jack Gardner, New Bedford heavyweight, who knocked out Tex McEwan in his last bout in the Hub.

These two 10-round events should provide the fans with more real hard hitting than any matches of the season and the promoter predicts that the fans will see more action than anytime this year.

The regular summer feature of 50 rounds of boxing in a series of 5 round will be continued for this show and a classy list of preliminaries is planned. Tickets may be procured at 61 Court st.

Margaret Curtis Wins Golf Tourney

Bass Rocks, Aug. 15—Miss Margaret Curtis of Essex County, former national champion, won the second annual women's invitation tournament on the Bass Rocks Golf Club. Her 90 led a field of 48 players by two strokes for gross honors.

Miss Allis Safford of the home club captured first net with a card of 103—25—78. Second net went to Miss Loretta S. Scott, another local player, who had 104—23—81.

Miss Curtis went out in 46 and came home in 44.

Trailing her with a 92 was Miss Edith Stevens of The Country Club. Mrs. Charles DeLand of Brae-Burn and Miss Edith Rogers of Rockport both had 93s, while Mrs. E. T. Seyward of Brae-Burn, with a 95, was the only other player to break 100.

Tunney Says Heeney Best in Heavy Ranks

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

New York, Aug. 15—My match with Tom Heeney, the last ring battle in which I shall ever be engaged, was the greatest I have ever fought. Looking back over it I have only the regret that I was not furnished on that night with more strenuous opposition. I feel that if I had been, I would have risen to heights such as I never before attained.

Under the circumstances there was nothing that I could have done to better the performance. As it was, I believe that the match I fought was technically and actually perfect. When it was over I felt as though I could have done better had the necessity been there.

Not once in the entire engagement was I in the slightest danger. Never did I draw a full breath. It seemed to me as the rounds wore on that I was back in training on the shores of Lake Pleasant, preparing for a great effort that was to come later. It did not seem as though Heeney were the man threatening to lift the heavyweight crown from my head. Mentally I was at ease every moment of the engagement, unperturbed and calm. I was able to think as I went along of everything that should be done next. I could tell just what Heeney planned to do. Each time I anticipated his moves he did just as I expected. Always the things I had planned for just such a move worked to perfection.

IN the back of my mind as the match wore on and Heeney weakened steadily instead of gaining in strength and power to menace the championship, was a feeling of elation with the chance that brought me into the ring in perfect condition mentally and physically, yet with no way of utilizing all the reserve I had at my command.

I feel that I am leaving the ring without having fought my greatest battle. If I had remained, to wait a year and possibly more for a contender to develop who could bring out that latent power, perhaps the ability would have deteriorated. Just now I am at the peak of my physical prowess.

At my age, 30, there is no reason why I should not be at the peak. I believe that the age of greatest physical development lies between 28 and 32. That would leave me two more years at the height of my game. I have had enough, however, of the rigors that come of boxing.

If in a strenuous game, well worth the complete attention I have given it in the past ten years, it has given me wealth, health and some measure of fame. I can step aside now with all these, leaving the same things for others to attain.

Certainly no cleaner match ever was staged than the last title affair. At all times there was the feeling of complete mental ease and knowledge that I need not be on the watch for sly violations of the rules. There was nothing underhanded about Tom Heeney.

The New Zealander has left on the American ring a stamp of sportsmanship and an example of courage and grit that has been good for the sport. Heeney will continue to menace the heavyweight throne for some time to come.

The man who bar his way to the championship I have vacated will know that they have been in the most strenuous encounter before they rise higher than he. Heeney was the best of the challengers. He stands out today, despite his defeat, as the best man left in the ranks.

I will not be back to the ring to challenge the right of Heeney or any other man for the crown. It has given me all that it had to bestow, its highest honor and awards. In turn I hope that I have added something to the greatest of sports. For the game and the men connected with it I have nothing but the kindliest feeling.

May it continue along its present high plane and with even higher standards as champions come and go!

(This is the last article by Gene Tunney describing his experiences in his match with Tom Heeney.)

Travers Stake to Be Run Off August 18

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 15—The Travers Stake, known as the mid-summer derby, will be decided at the Saratoga course Saturday, August 18.

The principal three-year-olds in America, bar Toro, are eligible for this event, which calls for a distance of a mile and a quarter.

In 1927 the renewal was won by Brown Bud, which defeated Nimbus and Valorous.

Mars whipped Pompey and Display in 1926, and such great horses as Man o' War, Roamer, Omar Khayyam and Sun Briar are listed among its winners. Somewhere in the full tabulation will be found the career of the coming colt.

Will it be Reigh Count, Victorian, Genie, Sun Edwin, or will some other three-year-old, unsung, rise to lofty heights in the classic?

NOBSCOT-W. CONCORD ON DIAMOND TONIGHT

Concord, Aug. 15—The West Concord town baseball team will take a trip to Nobscot this evening to oppose the Nobscot club in an important second half contest in the Assabet Valley League series.

The game will start at 6:15 o'clock. Tomorrow evening two more league encounters will be played.

HOUR RECORD IN DANGER AT REVERE

If Georgia Wiley's hour record of 45 miles, 3 laps for the Revere Cycle Track will ever be broken, tonight seems to be time. Six of the fastest pace followers in the game, all set on capturing the beautiful Wiley Cup and in addition the special prize of $200 for smashing the record, will attempt to better Wiley's mark, made several years ago, and ever since defying the greatest bikers.

It's a tossup just who will be the favorite. But it is certain that either Frankie Keenan or George Chapman will enjoy the honor when the gun sends the riders away.

The event will be known as the Wiley Cup races and besides Keenan and Chapman, has in it Francesco Zucchetti, the Italian who is fast making a name for himself having won the last championship race here and also the big Golden Wheel three weeks ago; Henri Wyndau, Belgium; Vincent Madonna, the popular little Italian, and Larry Gaffney, the New York amateur.

Madonna's countrymen will be out en masse to cheer him on to victory. He is one of the most popular riders who has ever appeared here, especially with the Italian fans. Vincent is sure of a big greeting tonight.

The race will be a renewal of the feud between Chapple and Keenan, who have been battling each other nip and tuck this season. Matchmaker Bob Sherman has them, Keenan holding a big advantage in the races in which they have been matched. Ray Duval, and Chapple riding off with the lion's share of the honors on other tracks.

Chapman has been getting the better of Keenan lately, but fans can't forget the sensational races Frankie rode earlier in the year; in particular, the time he took Chapple in a special match race, winning two straight heats.

Nat Butler has arranged some attractive pro and amateur preliminary races.

Dallas-Bowman Lead in Printers' Golf

Bowman and Dallas retained their lead in the Printers' tournament at Franklin Park yesterday, turning scores of 87 and 88.

All of the championship division finished under 100 yesterday, the highest scores was 98.

J. Cooke and A. Cooke, both of Boston, led in their respective classes.

N.Y.A.C. Boats Come to Marblehead

Today saw the arrival at Marblehead of numerous power craft and tenders belonging to the New York Yacht Club fleet.

Only one racing craft, a 10-meter boat under tow, however, came in.

The regatta committee boat, the Diesel yacht, Colleen, was among the arrivals.

The biggest sailing craft to drop anchor was Robert E. Tod's six-fifty yawl, Thistle, with her sprit mizzensail.

'Twixt Tee and Cup

By BILL GRIMES

Within two years the annual Country Club of New Bedford invitation tournament will take its place among the classics of the golf season.

The members of the Country Club of New Bedford have spared no expense to put this tournament over, and it is most refreshing to feel the warmth with which visiting golfers are welcome at the Whale City club.

F. A. Stone of Bear Hill had an unusual experience at the fourth hole at Vesper. On his first attempt to drive this green, Stone took a peek with the usual result, the ball went overboard.

But, on his next try, he managed to keep his head down and the shot went true to the mark, winding up in the hole. Tuis might be termed a real recovery shot.

Now that Les Cottrell, the pro at Bear Hill, has managed to secure waivers on his rheumatism he is playing a fine game. Les took a trip up to Andover to visit his friend Teddy Turner recently and turned in a 74 with five three putt greens and a penalty stroke at the seventeenth for catching the ditch.

Raymond Orr, of Sharon, who is one of the best one-legged golfers in this state, had an 89 on his own ball in a foursome recently. He was out in 39 and back in 47, a feat few two-legged players would sneeze at, for Sharon does not favor low scoring, other than by experts.

The Cohasset Country Club will hold an invitation four-ball tournament next season. Cohasset is one of the finest courses in New England, but is seldom mentioned as play there has been very much restricted.

The par at Cohasset is 38—35—73 and it could be a couple of strokes higher and still hold its own against the best in the game.

Arrangements have been made for the all star four ball exhibition at the Woodland Golf Club on September 5, at which time Bobby Jones, the United States amateur champion and Jimmy Farrell, the open champion, will play Walter Hagen, the British open titleholder, and Gene Sarazen.

This match should prove one of the best ever staged in these parts and the Ryder Cup team fund should reap a harvest, as the entire proceeds will be turned out to that fund.

The Sandy Burr Country Club has started its drive for the Diamond Ball mixed foursome entries. This classic will be staged on September 6th and 7th and will be a 36-hole event, playable in one or two nays.

The field will be divided into two classes and there will be prizes and net prizes for each division. The Diamond Ball class will be for men with 8 and under handicaps and women carrying not more than 16 strokes, while the remainder of the field will be eligible for the Silver Putter class.

FT. BANKS SHOW TOMORROW

Tomorrow night at Fort Banks, Winthrop, football fans will try to what is said to be the best balanced boxing show of the summer season at Fort Worthen seen on an arena.

Leading the show there will be an eight-round feature bout between Frankie Kane, Medford boxer, and Frankie Kane, M. N. G., two of the most promising boxers among the lightweight brigade.

In the six-round semifinal, Dick Rowell, T. H. contender, will attempt to stop the winning surge of Louis Zeno, Revere boy who won his last five bouts by knockouts.

There will be four other bouts, two six-round and two fours, in which Leo Gross, Gloucester boxer, Sailor Flint, U. S. S. Dale, Al Sacco, Boston boy, Jack Dumont, Coast Guard, Pat Flaherty, Coast Guard, Tommy Daley, Boston Latins, Rovers, and Joe Ferrari, Revere.

Four preliminary bouts will be provided for 500 sailors and a band concert will be given before and during the bouts.

BURRAGE ORCHIDS PROVE ALLURING TO FLOWER LOVERS, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Vanderbilt Vegetables Also Make Attractive Display at Newport Show

NEWPORT, R. I., AUG. 15—DIVERSITY IS THE WATCHWORD of the Newport Flower Show. From the regal orchid, fragile as a fairy's breath and glorious in the perfection of its tropical coloring, to the spherical tomato and elongated cucumber, the show runs the gamut. The Albert Burrage orchids, famous in many places, draw gasps of admiration to their beauty; the William H. Vanderbilt market garden contribution brings a gleam of appreciation to many an eye.

THE FLOWER SHOW RIOTS ALL OVER THE CASINO AND FURNISHES a plethora of color and charm. The year-round Newporters delight in it; the millionaire set is proud of it. The Burrage orchids are the tropical bloom raised to the "nth" degree of size and coloring. First prizes gravitate to Burrage exhibitions as easily and as surely as water flows over a spillway. Burrage orchids are known and admired wherever flower shows take their fragrant way.

HERE IN NEWPORT THE FLOWER SHOW MANAGEMENT, VERY wisely, allots the orchid room the very first to be entered. Tier on tier the orchids rise. The priceless specimens, singly and in giant clusters, delicately tinted as summer dawn, or deeply purple as a Venetian sunset.

IT'S QUITE LIKE YOUNG MR. WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT TO send some Oakland Farm prize vegetables to the show, rather than proud beauties from his conservatories. Never were there more perfect carrots grown; never more symmetrical tomatoes and, never, potatoes quite so handsome in their light brown jackets, nor sweet corn more toothsome. The Vanderbilt contribution, like the Burrage orchids, has a room to itself, and cannot fail to delight every housewifely eye, and even to charm the dilletante with the cookbook for its infinite suggestion.

WHEN MRS. HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY TURNS THE BATTERY of her artistic genius on a decorative floral ornament arrangement, results are sure to be perfection. Judges at the show consider her exhibition just that, and so give it an honorable mention. Mrs. Whitney sets up a priceless white jade god against a background of gorgeous Oriental silk, and matches the silk's brightest tint with some unusual lilies. No wonder the judges lingered before it and made an award. Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster got her inspiration from the Orient and set up a mental decoration of bronzes and lacquers against crystal white.

MRS. HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY IS A PLEASANT THEME ON which to linger, when speaking of Newport's most high. Mrs. Whitney it is who most often entertains in the Mrs. Vanderbilt box at the Casino Theater, when that jade and cream bijou house is having its weekly "first night." The box alloted to Mrs. Vanderbilt is just across the corner from that in which Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James entertains friends, and opposite the one taken by Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton Rice. Casino Theater is a scintillating scene when great ones of the millionaire set put on their jewels and their fine linen to adorn it.

TEA ON THE CASINO LAWN, WHILE SWEET STRAINS ARE discoursed and ice tinkles in tall and frosted glasses, is a pleasant whileaway for the sundown hour. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Binney find it so. Today they sipped their lemonade and chatted with intimates of the cottage colony while their swift and seagoing "Queen Mab" swung idly at anchor in the harbor. The Binneys are extremely fond of life afloat, but mix it judiciously with excursions ashore at their favorite summer spa, Newport.

MR. BINNEY WAS, IN FACT, THE CENTER OF A SMALL COURT, being incapacitated to the extent of a damaged ankle and confirmed to crutches. Popularity is the watchword for this genial gentleman, however. His friends are legion. Mrs. Binney in white, with touches of black on chapeau and frock, was her usual handsome self. Her costume took its simplicity from fine handkerchief linen and its elegance from a lace coat and handsome accessories of black and white. Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte's vivid blue and white costume set her quite apart from feminity in pale pinks and soft lilacs, beiges and butter colors doffing the velvet green Casino lawn, as society sipped its cooling drinks and listened to the little symphony dispense excellent music.

Miss Louise Van Alen —International Newsreel Photo— Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte

AT AMERICA'S FAVORITE SUMMER RESORT

Mrs. Bonaparte adds to the delight of a Newport scene with smart frocks and picturesque accessories. At Bailey's Beach she is a familiar figure. Miss Van Alen is one of the society spa's most important and much feted debutantes. Palatial Wakehurst is her home and a wide popularity in the younger set hers, by right of a charming personality and family prestige.

MRS. BONAPARTE IS ALWAYS DECORATIVE. AND ALMOST never is she to be seen abroad without a wide and drooping hat, usually a modified sombrero for suppleness and width. Today her kings blue hat matched the blue of her scarf and set a bright toned example for smart shoes.

FLOODS PERIL FLORIDA AFTER STORM PASSES

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15 (AP)—Florida turned today from the danger of hurricanes to that of serious floods as the Lake Okeechobee region gradually became inundated, forming a shallow inland sea of wide proportions.

Meanwhile another moderate tropical disturbance blowing northward off the coast of Cuba, was the occasion of caution notices to shipping in that area, although no storm warning was issued for Florida.

South Central Florida's shallow inland sea was draining slowly into Lake Okeechobee from the north and west through three channels—Taylor's Creek, Kissimmee River and Fish Eating Creek.

In all the affected area, only Okeechobee City on Taylor's Creek a few miles east of the mouth of the Kissimmee, was entirely safe.

New York, Aug. 15 (INS)—Gene Austin, popular radio singer and balladist of millions of phonograph owners throughout the world, is believed to have been lost at sea off the coast of North Carolina during the recent tropical storm along the East coast. With Austin were his wife and three other persons, who also are feared lost.

Austin was cruising in his yacht, Blue Heaven, when he is believed to have been caught in the hurricane. The party was last reported off Beaufort, N. C., bound for Southport, N. C.

6000 'MOSQUITO' FEVER CASES IN GREEK CAPITAL

Athens, Aug. 15 (AP)—Dengue fever has lately appeared in Athens and the number of cases may exceed 6000. The fever is spread by mosquitoes breeding in stagnant water and under poor sewerage conditions. Many banks and public departments are short of help because of fever among employes. Measures have been taken to drain off stagnant waters or cover them with petroleum. The disease is rarely fatal.

500 DIE IN SINKING OF CHINESE STEAMBOAT

Shanghai, Aug. 15 (AP)—British naval circles announced today that 500 lives had been lost in the sinking of the Chinese steamer Hainan-Ching in the Yangtze river. Those drowned are believed to include a British missionary. The steamer was bound for Ichang from Changsking. It foundered in dangerous rapids with all on board.

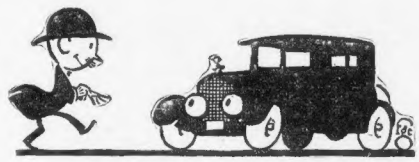
STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK



"Good Morning, Doctor"

WE'LL venture to guess that you and your colleagues waste less money on bootleg gasoline and oil than any other class of citizens. That's one bargain no doctor can afford.

After all, your car comes pretty close to being the most important equipment a medical man has to have. Sick patients want the doctor quick—a crippled machine is no excuse. Also, you know something about diet. You don't expect human beings to thrive on second-grade food—same way with an automobile.

You deal with reputable drug houses as a matter of course, and you safeguard your transportation by insisting on good oil and gas. It's easy to pull up at the pump that has a reputation behind it—easy, and a lot safer.

Many states now require motorists to pass eyesight tests before granting driving licenses. Anybody with half an eye can see that the Socony pump gets most of the traffic—and keeps it moving.

TOURING THIS SUMMER? Let Socony Touring Service help you plan your trip and advise you of road conditions. The service is free. Just fill in the coupon and send it to Socony Touring Service, Room 58, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Twin Band Wagons Will Tour U. S. for Hoover

Washington, Aug. 15—The Herbert Hoover bandwagon is twins.

Equipped with motion pictures, loud speakers, amplified talking machines and a staff of high-powered spellbinders, a pair of motor busses will be sent into the Republican presidential campaign late this week, it was learned today.

The busses, innovations in national political campaigns, will be assigned the task of spreading "Who But Hooverism" through the country from top to bottom and end to end. They will be directed by the speakers' bureau headquarters of the G. O. P. at Chicago and New York.

First assignments of the busses will be at West Branch, Iowa, where Hoover will arrive in his old home town, August 21, and at Providence, R. I., August 23, where the vice-presidential candidate, Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas will open his drive for election. After these assignments the two busses will be put on the road and kept moving steadily until election day. It is expected 15 towns can be covered daily in each bus.

J. APPLETON MORGAN IS DEAD AT 83

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—James Appleton Morgan, lawyer and authority on Shakespeare, died today in St. Luke's Hospital at the age of 83.

Mr. Morgan was born in Portland, Me. He was graduated from Racine (Wis.) College and Columbia University Law School. He married in New Orleans in 1877. Miss Olive [illegible]

EDSEL FORD AND PARTY IN HUB

Edsel Ford, accompanied by two men, one of whom may have been Henry Ford, his father, arrived at the North Station today aboard a special car attached to a train from Rutland, Vt.

The car was shunted onto the baggage track on the Nashua st. side of the station and the party quickly entered an automobile and drove away, presumably for Wayside Inn, at Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford have been vacationing at Benson, Vt., a fact lending credence to the belief the automobile "king" was in the party with his son.

LONESOME HAT MAKER KILLS SELF WITH GAS

New York, Aug. 15—Jacob Bayne, owner of a hat and cap company, was found dead today of gas at the kitchen table in his home. On the table was a newspaper opened to a story entitled "Lonesome." Gas was flowing from the stove.

Bayne drove his wife and two daughters to Swan Lake, N. Y., last Sunday. On the dining table in the apartment was an assortment of bills and business papers.

12 PICKETS ARE FOUND GUILTY OF LOITERING

New Bedford, Aug 15 (AP)—William E. G. Hatter, secretary of the Textile Council and 11 others of his organization arrested on charges of loitering while picketing the Wool-rich Mill were found guilty and ordered to pay $10 each or spend fourteen days in Third District Court. They appealed and entered bonds of $100 each and were released on $500 bail.

The arrest of Mr. Hatter was his first since the strike began, although he has been in New Bedford most of the time. He is one of the leaders of the Textile Council, representative of the conservative element of the strikers, to be found at the headquarters of the Textile Council on Purchase street.

Ten of the fifty pickets arrested on the same charge pleaded guilty and paid the $10 fine. Eight others, who claimed they were not loitering but were merely walking to their homes, were released. Several have been arrested while picketing and paraded in lottering as the result. Many of the pickets, as some have been broken up and some have been unmolested.

Ten women were arrested this morning charged with threatening a woman laundry worker whom they picketed, for a similar offense. The cases were continued. A man charged with intimidating a woman mill operative was fined $25.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Where have you been all my life, Cutie?

LIVE WITH WORK

By LUCY LOWELL

OF COURSE, there may be another perfectly reasonable side to the I-want-to-work-but-am-not-let-business.

The friend who calls upon you during your working hours may be actuated by kindness, never dreaming that he or she is interrupting the wheels of activity. And in this case, you yourself may be to blame somewhat for not pointing out the true state of affairs.

This point is called to my attention by a friend from Albany. She writes:

"Dear Miss Lowell:

"The real trouble lies in so many being hypocritical. When people say they say, with a beaming smile, 'Now please come and see me—do not forget.' And some who have been brought up to be courteous, kind, attentive and, above all, truthful, are so anxious to do the right thing that they call as invited, never guessing they are not wanted.

"Later, the host or hostess complains bitterly because the other actually has accepted hospitality extended by himself or herself.

"Why shouldn't busy people have cards printed plainly noting both business and at home hours? Or why wouldn't it be a good plan for business women to have at home days, say the second and fourth Wednesdays, perhaps serving tea from 2 until 6 o'clock? This is the English custom and a very pleasant one.

"CONSTANT READER."

IT SEEMS to me that Constant Reader's plan for separating work and sociability is perhaps the most reasonable and tactful of any offered so far. Surely it should lose no friends and might gain many.

What has been YOUR experience with the caller who interrupts YOUR work, and what did YOU do about it?

FATHERS MUST HELP

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

YOU fathers, through necessity of bread winning, have always left the home and the rearing of children pretty much in the hands of the mother. However, remember that you are a valuable part, a valuable example in all your child's education, and in one instance you are necessary and indispensable.

A small boy approached his father, clambered upon his knee and said: "Daddy, who is God?"

"He is your Heavenly Father," replied the man gently.

There was silence for a moment, a grave, thoughtful silence. Then the tiny lad concluded: "I know. Just like you, only bigger."

"Just like YOU, only bigger," that's worth mousing over.

Before you, as a man, can imagine a huge, high mountain, you must first think of the foothills of your native state. Then your imagination can carve to the heights of a greater hill, a majestic mountain, just like the foothills, only bigger. We make each of us proceed from what we know, to what we do not know.

So it is only natural and inevitable that a small child to comprehend a Divine, a Heavenly Father, must think first of his own father, and as he thinks of YOU so will he be colored his thoughts, his love or aversion to a higher Father.

If I were to ask a hundred fathers whether they believed it would be a good thing for their sons to believe in a God, a Spiritual Father, I feel sure that the majority of them would say yes, no matter to what church they belonged or what creed they professed. So, if it is true that you want your child to have a faith in a Father Who can always be present, Who is always available when we need Him, consider what sort of a figure you represent to your child as the starting point of this spiritual belief. For on his first impressions of YOU depend his impressions of God.

Realize, that in proportion to the decree in which you build up a relationship of love and trust between yourself and your child, just in that same proportion will he later look upon his Unseen Father as a source of strength and comfort when all human help seems futile, as it inevitably does. So, it is in your power, by being kind and loving in your suggestions and corrections, to form an association of ideals in your child's mind which will ever connect the word "father" with a memory which is sweet and precious.

How can a child think of a Divine Father as being understanding and forgiving unless you can give him the foundation for this belief by radiating those qualities yourself?

If you create an aversion to you or a fear of you in the heart of your little one, he will unconsciously carry that emotion into his relationship with his Heavenly Father.

My own father had a firm conviction that God was a huge man who lay in wait for each of us to commit some wrong, just so he could flay and beat us, wring tears and heartaches from us, because he was more powerful and could do so. This reaction was easily traced to his own childhood, during which its only contact he had with his own father was when the man decided to whip him for some real or fancied misdeed. The word "father" inspired the small boy with nothing except fear and a resent. out which he had a perfect right to cherish against the unsporting manner in which the father took advantage of his size and authority.

Your baby looks up to you for everything, material and spiritual. You are his very first idea of a father—a God—so give him, by your example, the true things of life, the vision of principle and an understanding faith.

THE DAILY DIZZY

By HOBAN

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

WE all live in glass houses, these frank, bright, open-faced days.

Nothing is concealed—from our emotions to our bridge work! There isn't a good whole family skeleton to be found in an entire community of houses. And if there were we should probably dangle it as a radiator cap on the front of our automobiles.

A man displays his Adam's apple as openly and defiantly above his low soft collar as a girl displays her knees beneath her high-water skirts.

We discuss our soul secrets, our sentiments, our reactions, our complexes, and even our HUSBANDS and our domestic affairs with everybody.

* * *

We naively carry our schoolgirl complexions around with us in little gold cases and perform the most intimate details of our toilettes—powder our noses, touch up our lips and renovate our blushes—in the street, the theater or the church—wherever we happen to be.

* * *

We are SO frank and open that we even discuss our sins and brag of our little escapades. We just LOVE to tell each other about our facilities, our favorite beauty creams and how we make our figures "what they ain't," by diet and reducing exercises.

* * *

As for SEX, it is no longer a mystery or a personal affair, but our favorite topic of dinnerable conversation, and light afternoon-tea chatter.

* * *

We not only live in GLASS HOUSES, but we never pull down the shades! We don't even try to cover up our impulses or to hide our tempers under a camouflage of good manners!

* * *

All this unblushing candor has undoubtedly made life lots simpler and more comfortable, but it has robbed it of most of its picturesqueness.

Diplomacy, coquetry and the beautiful art of flirtation are as archaic today as Queen Anne furniture and hoopskirts. There are no hors d'oeuvres to the love-feast any more. We just plunge right in! Love-making is no longer a fencing match, but a wrestling match!

* * *

A man no longer gets a kick out of standing on a windy corner watching the girls go by. There's nothing MORE to see! He can no longer sigh that he is "afraid of women." They have no "ulterior designs." They HAVE said do their husband-hunting with guns, not snares.

* * *

But by the same token, girls no longer suffer from acute self-consciousness and false modesty. They don't "wonder what's slipping" every time a man stares at them. They eat, sit comfortably, walk without mincing and talk without choosing their words. It's a new heaven and a new earth! And whether we like it or not, life is lots EASIER, if less inspiring, thrilling and beautiful.

BOSTON POWER POOL ONE OF LARGEST

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Proposed pooling of all the power resources of Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston and the New England Power Association would make the Boston pool one of the largest in the nation. President Charles L. Edgar of Edison and President Frank D. Comerford of New England Power are representative new Eastern utility leaders. The Boston News Bureau says:

Frank D. Comerford

Charles L. Edgar

"This pool of power resources should be of great benefit to the consumers of both systems." Boards of directors of both companies have announced to increase the plans for pooling.

* * *

The power pooling plan united states that electric utility interests in many New England industrial plants. The water power of the New England rivers not only will become available for Boston, but for industries in the hinterland as well. Edison will be ready to supply power to the rest of Eastern New England.

Near the gigantic Weymouth plant of the Edison Electric, and in line of President Edgar, are the rotos of the amount will switch, local traffic will be with the power from the mill in America. I am told the Slads mill is not the only one in New England planning on buying power. Tidal power is available, however, on a great scale. In some Water power should need further supplementing.

* * *

President Comerford, in number of directorships, is beginning to vie with former President Calvin Bern- ham saw International Paper and Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co. added to the list.

* * *

Under Chief of Police George Duchier, Portsmouth, N. H., is gaining an enviable reputation as gateway to the White Mountains, Maine, and Canada. Automobiles get a "square deal" there, and this sort of thing is a valuable asset to the Summer resort business, which means so much to a host of New England. White cooperation like that put in their appearance in Portsmouth, they are being placed at exactly the right time, as in some places, to meet the notions of so- called "pleasure" motorists, who seem bent to nothing about regulation of traffic.

At Portsmouth is the great inter- state bridge over the Piscataqua, a memorial to heroes of the World War, a structure for the building of which Frank Asserian, Postmaster General H. Hartlett worked strenuously when he was Governor of New Hampshire. The building of this fresh tie out Boston & Maine toll bridge, and saved to tourists who use the route was a vast sum of money.

* * *

In some places near Boston I am told the merchants feel "stop lights" are necessary. A lot of the shopping tentative customers into lanes of travel where they can be avoided. Stopping at such lights gives them a chance to "size up" the stores and establish which is which. Of course, this is a study in one city between the "citizens" and the "visitors," and the money issue discussed with the way lights have been located. Advertising on the New Hampshire Turnpike would be a good thing, it is claimed, and render many "rush dates" not so important.

Business men are lacking the au- thority to make such a search for formula of traffic regulations. Boston, Springfield, Worcester, Manchester, Malden, Nashua, adopted this plan of having a real traffic expert to solve the problem. Such a method is fundamental engineering, as it is in every Town, City and State.

* * *

One finds many automobile own- ers who have come to drive more considerably lower speeds than prevailed just a few months. For classification purposes, boiling motor- fifes put the speed limit at 30 miles an hour. These are horizontal lines and high-speed. Assume this in mind may help to avoid accidents.

* * *

You hear more talk about "deck dent New England shoe and a hosiery mill in this section since boom under the lure of cotton. Take a peek into the South Acadia Mills hosiery mills at High Point, N. C., earned $1.4 a share on common for the first half of 1928 as compared with $2.51 a share in the first half of 1927. The trouble is that depression is growing keener and keener North or South is "decided."

DROP IN OIL OUTPUT LEADS TO STOCK BUYING

Revival of activity and strength in some of the oil shares today was not unlikely was based on the sharp decrease in crude oil production last week, although expiration of the Seminole curtailment agreement has aroused fears of another period of surplus production. Atlantic Refining was the leader with an early gain of more than 3 points.

KENNEDY STILL DOMINATING INFLUENCE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1928, by International Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14—The guiding hand of Joseph Kennedy is being recognized at the former De Mille studios, even though the dominant personality of the man is absent. All is bustle and bustle in the colonial mansion at Culver city. Joseph Kennedy has left his orders and, apparently, they are being carried out to the letter. The first of these orders was that Bern and his particular function, as a Kennedy specialist. He will put into production "Geraldine," Booth Tarkington's novel, with Carey Wilson writing the scenario. Mr. Bern has been to Chicago, Minneapolis, and Canada. Automobiles got a "square deal" there, and this sort of thing is a valuable asset to the Summer resort business, which means so much to a host of New England. White cooperation like that put in their appearance in Portsmouth, they are being placed at exactly the right time, as in some places, to meet the notions of so- called "pleasure" motorists, who seem bent to nothing about regulation of traffic.

Annette Loff and Eddie Quillan will be co-starred in the Booth Tarkington yarn. These two youngsters are making a decided hit in the new made good in "The Godless Girl," hence his contract. Jeannette Loff screened for the role of Rosina the leading lady. There you are. The two are to be groomed for coming stardom.

Joseph Kennedy may be right or he may be wrong. We will have to wait and see, but at least he is going ahead with the courage of his convictions.

JOHNNY MACK BROWN carries his heroic mould right into the movies and onto the screen. As a football hero, he had few equals and, as a fresh, wholesome type of college American manhood, he seems to have clicked and to have made a place for himself. All of which goes to show that he has had his head shown from a group of many applicants for any openings. Johnny Mack Brown is "The Little Angel." What with Lowell Sherman and the rest of the cast, Clara Bow's return to the screen in "The Little Angel" promises to be a clinch in one city between the "citizens" and the "visitors," with the latter more interested with the way lights have been located. Advertising on the New Hampshire Turnpike would be a good thing, it is claimed, and render many "rush dates" not so important.

CALT LAKE has money is being spent with a prodigal hand to get just the right cast for "The Pastime of the New World," to be made from the novel by Rex Beach. Director of the Pioneer Film Company, who are financing, and Marie Prevost are in Salt Lake now. They have been joined by Conway Tearle, Andres Randolf, Russell Simpson and Wallace Ford. It is a big picture thing. All of them leave town Friday for a two months' sojourn in Salt Lake City, under Ben Lyon will do so far away from Hollywood for such a long time a special train has been hired by the Pioneer company to house the players, while they are giving Salt Lake a treat.

ALL the signs of the fox lot and the wise looks, whenever "Behind That Curtain" is mentioned, gives me an idea that this is going to be one of Fox's corkers. A few years ago, we would have shrugged our shoulders at the title, but since Winfield Sheehan has taken hold of the scenario end, but still and get away with it. It is rumored that Edmund Lowe and June Collyer will have the leads, but this is also one of those "Sh—Sh" "Don't tell that I told you," things. One player or that is definitely signed for "Behind That Curtain" and who is particularly interesting, is Paul Fung. Mr. Fung who is a Chinese student, has been cast as "Chang" the detective who solves the murder after twenty years. Fung, they say, has an excellent speaking voice and, besides, he is a fine actor.

NOT everyone can come back. I should say it takes a mighty good man to be able to do it. Emmett Flynn, for more years than I care to remember in print, was associated with the Fox Company. Then came success. Emmett left and went elsewhere. Now he is back and about to direct a picture for Fox Film Corp. All I know about said picture is, that it is a French story and will have Paul Fung in the cast. Tom Terriss, the Brazilian discovery, in important roles. Paul Vincenti has lately been added to the Fox holdings and is now under a five-year contract. Lois Wilson, temporarily, and Sabu Fernak, ex-wife of Franz Molnar. But that hasn't hurt him in Hollywood. Everyone I've have been good, quite on his own and a new name and everything.

THE psychology of Toots and Casper—if cartoon characters possess psychology, should be explained during their stay in the movieers, to be produced by Larry Darmour. At least Jimmy Murphy, who signed the long youngsters should understand them. And he is here helping write the scenario and keeping an eye on their film exploits. Jimmy is sold on California, but who isn't?

CAROL DEMPSTER has been busy answering telegrams and letters, denying that she will be permanently scarred from the effects of her recent motor accident. The exaggeration of Mark Twain's death are slight, compared with Carol's. She will open September 2, and, as a fresh, wholesome type of screen American manhood, she seems to have clicked and to have made a place for himself. All of which goes to show that he has had his head shown from a group of many applicants for any openings. Johnny Mack Brown is "The Little Angel." What with Lowell Sherman and the rest of the cast, Clara Bow's return to the screen in "The Little Angel" promises to be a clinch in one city between the "citizens" and the "visitors," with the latter more interested with the way lights have been located. Business men are lacking the authority to make such a search for formula of traffic regulations. Boston, Springfield, Worcester, Manchester, Malden, Nashua, adopted this plan of having a real traffic expert to solve the problem. Such a method is fundamental engineering, as it is in every Town, City and State.

One finds many automobile own- ers who have come to drive more considerably lower speeds than prevailed just a few months. For classification purposes, boiling motor- fifes put the speed limit at 30 miles an hour. These are horizontal lines and high-speed. Assume this in mind may help to avoid accidents.

You hear more talk about "deck dent New England shoe and a hosiery mill in this section since boom under the lure of cotton. Take a peek into the South Acadia Mills hosiery mills at High Point, N. C., earned $1.4 a share on common for the first half of 1928 as compared with $2.51 a share in the first half of 1927. The trouble is that depression is growing keener and keener North or South is "decided."

RAILROAD PAYS 7 P. C. FOR HALF-YEAR LOAN

New York American financial writer says—"Theoretically, there is no excuse for any one having money. It is claimed: yet the fact remains that the cost of money continues scandalously high. Apparently understands that one of the large Eastern railroads has arranged a six-months' time loan which cost it 7 per cent net. Here is one of the leading railroads of business enterprises paying 7 per cent in the money center of the world for a short-term loan—and the Federal reserve authorities at Washington are understood to doubt whether the tightness of speculative money is having an injurious effect on business.

"All of which denotes quite clearly why the Federal Reserve Board is understood to be receiving numerous protests from business men over the increasing cost of banking accommodation. Furthermore, these facts form the basis for the expectation of many that the Reserve System, without losing caste, may decide upon a reversal of its policy, even if only temporarily, and ease the situation through the purchase of Government securities.

"Secretary Mellon returns later this month and he is counted upon to exert some influence toward this end. In the meantime, however, stock market is face to face with the tightest money in seven years with every prospect that money is going to even firmer rates unless the Federal Reserve softens its heart."

THE
MISSOURI COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC UTILITY INFORMATION
MISSOURI, THE CENTER STATE

June 14, 1928.

Public Utility Information Bureau
John Arnold, Sec'y.

Mr. Alfred Fischer,
Michigan Committee on Public Utility Info.,
100 West Huron Str., Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Fischer:

I appreciate very much your letter of the 12th and the efforts to have the copy of the resolutions published in the Michigan newspapers, but I am afraid that the results will be disappointing. You realize that the really most important work done by the committees should be likely to be also controversial, particularly in the political press.

I do know that the most important work done by the Missouri Commission was directed to the education of the people in public utilities. You will agree with me that it would be most unwise to give this work any publicity, because the purpose of the efforts would be misunderstood, and it might give offense in quarters where no offense is intended.

The fact that a committee of the Missouri Utilities Association reported on textbooks used in the elementary schools and received some publicity through the Associated Press, I appreciate is very much. It is a matter for discussion entirely between leaders in the industry, writers of textbooks, and publishers thereof.

We have started organization of a Speakers' Bureau on the Illinois plan. The purpose of the Speakers' Bureau is quite limited in scope, but I would not want my publicity about it for the reasons that I have set forth to you.

If we could clear for private information Harvey W. Wiley, or any other person, I would be glad indeed.

I regret that the conditions are not such as had existed. Just to keep you advised, it appears to me that some bill is sure to be introduced in the next session of the legislature. In fact the whole service commission of Missouri escaped elimination by a run-off on a reconsideration of a motion, on four twenty-five bills affecting three Republican members who happened in the legislature. In fact no one did not desire appointed State Regulation is dormant.

This committee may not be progressive for all time, but under the present circumstances, I think it is entitled to a major share of the credit.

Very sincerely yours,

J. A. Sheridan

HERE J. B. Sheridan, Missouri propagandist for the power interests and self-styled father of the text-book censorship campaign, tells Alfred Fischer, his former fellow-propagandist in Michigan, how undesirable it would be to tell the public what the propaganda committees are doing. "I believe that the most important work done by the Missouri committee was directing the attention of the industry to textbooks in public schools," Sheridan writes. "You will agree with me that it would be most unwise to give this work any publicity." Altering the opinion of 20,000,000 school children "is a matter for executive session leaders in the (power) industry, writers of textbooks, and printers thereof." Neither does Sheridan care for publicity about the organized public speaking, he writes. He thinks his propaganda committee is "entitled to a major share of the credit" for suppressing opposition to the commission which regulates utilities in Missouri. This letter is an official exhibit in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the so-called Power Trust.

CONSUMERS OF POWER GOUGED BY TRUST

Washington, Aug. 15—Consumers throughout the United States are paying in excess of nearly four times as much to private corporations for electric current as residents of Ontario pay to their publicly owned system, Federal Trade Commission records show.

This vast difference in charges was admitted by the National Electric Light Association, for years the leader in the attempt to discredit the Ontario plant's rates and silence damaging comparisons.

The light association's own comparative figures were placed on record through an exchange of letters with J. B. Sheridan, Missouri power propagandist. The letters were subpoenaed by the commission from Sheridan's client.

Sheridan, whose correspondence revealed him as source for the yardstick for data to justify rates, charged by the private plants, whose "public relations" he was supervising, wished to refute figures cited by a critic of the utilities. His letter to George O. Ogden, of the association propagandist, was turned over to William M. Carpenter, the association's research statistician, for reply.

STATISTICIAN'S REPLY

To demonstrate that the critic's figures were "wild," Carpenter gave these:

"In 1926, the actual consumption of electricity by domestic consumers was 6,345,166,000 kilowatt hours, for which they returned a revenue of $443,615,000, which averaged 7 and a shade under seven cents per kilowatt hour.

"During the same year the average revenue received by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario from domestic service was 1.53 cents."

DENIES LOSS IN ONTARIO

Carpenter added the explanation constantly exploited by the utilities in rate controversies, that the greater part of Ontario's energy current "is sold at a loss." This is denied in toto by independent students of the Ontario system, and by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission itself.

According to Morris Llewellyn Cooke's recent study of electric rates:

"The charges of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to the municipalities, and the charges of the municipalities to the ultimate consumers are such as to make it possible so as to include the whole cost of generation, transmission and distribution, including interest on bonded indebtedness and reserve for renewals."

Mill to Be Auctioned

Cordaville, Aug. 15 (AP)—The property of the defunct Cordaville Woolen Mills, valued at $70,000, is to be sold at public auction soon. Lack of orders caused the mills to close in February, 1927.

HUB OARSMEN ROWING ALONG MAINE COAST

Cape Small Point, Me., Aug. 15—Dr. T. K. Richards, Harvard football "medic," and his comrade, Lothrop Withington, Boston attorney, who are rowing their way from Boston to St. John, N. B., in a 25-foot wherry, left here early today on their way north.

The Boston men came into lower Casco Bay after deciding to avoid Portland and the publicity their arrival there would cause.

While bound from the Portsmouth river to Biddeford Pool, the rowers unexpectedly were visited by Booth Tarkington, noted author, and a group of friends from Kennebunkport. The two oarsmen at that time had discarded all their garments to facilitate occasional "cooling." They were told by visitors in time, however, and were conventionally garbed when they received company.

Boulder Dam Opposition

It Is More Trumped Up Than Real

The Boulder Dam project is now well-known to the country. The people recognize it as one of the great public improvements of the age. The Boulder Dam bill has passed the House. It is the unfinished business of the Senate, to be taken up as soon as that body reassembles in December.

The public also knows that Boulder Dam, to be built by the Federal Government at a cost of $125,000,000, is primarily a measure of flood control, to save from inundation the farmers of Imperial Valley, on the lower Colorado River. Incidentally, the reservoir can and will be made large enough to irrigate additional Imperial Valley land, to supply Southern California cities with domestic water supply, and to provide power for markets in California and the Southwest.

Finally, the people know that the bill provides that the project must be completely self-supporting. The Secretary of the Interior cannot turn a spadeful of earth until he has in his hands contracts from prospective users of power and water sufficient to pay interest and amortization on the $125,000,000. That is, the bill puts no burden whatever on the public treasury.

With these facts in mind, read the misrepresentations in an editorial of the August 6 issue of the Chicago Tribune, entitled "Boulder Dam and Senator Johnson as King Maker":

"Senator Johnson is trying to intimidate Mr. Hoover and give the country the idea that there is a moral issue in the attempt to take $100,000,000 and more from the national treasury for sectional benefit.

"If California, with this stolen water, grows grass for subdivisions, creates new wealth for favored individuals and State waterpower for its industries and for domestic use, it is of no moment or concern elsewhere in the country.

"It is a brilliant conceit to ask the nation to pay for California's water supply and new grass. It is also a brilliant conception of general public intelligence to presume that this picking of other people's pockets is a political morality."

Now it happens that the public knows the origin of the Chicago Tribune's campaign against Boulder Dam as a California real estate proposition. We know it from the records made public by the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the so-called Power Trust. It is the power lobby which urged Harper Leech, a Tribune feature writer, to get busy against Boulder Dam.

On January 7, 1927, a rush telegram was sent out from New York to mobilize public opinion against the Boulder Dam bill, whose passage was then threatening. The telegram was signed by George Oxley, publicity director of the National Electric Light Association.

Among those who received the telegram was B. J. Mullaney, of Chicago, Sam Insull's man and chairman of the Illinois State public utility propaganda organization. On January 7, the same day, Mullaney instructed his assistant, McGregor, to do something. The instructions ended:

"Perhaps Harper Leech can be interested. Perhaps some of the financial editors or reporters can be interested."

On March 21 of this year McGregor wrote to Major J. S. Richardson, of the Joint Committee of National Utility Associations, New York, which had raised $400,000 to defeat Boulder Dam legislation in Congress:

"Mr. Dear Major Richardson: Harper Leech, the Chicago Tribune, is working on a series of articles about the electric light and power industry, and is obtaining quite a bit of data through this office.

"Also he has an idea—from some information he has obtained—that the whole Boulder Dam is a Los Angeles real estate promotion affair. He would like to have any data that might be had to back up that theory."

Two weeks later, on April 5, 1925, the Tribune sprang the real estate idea with a Leech story headlined: "Great Clamor for a U. S. Built Boulder Dam; Los Angeles Real Estate Boom Awaits."

FORESTRY RESEARCH TO AID NATION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

HENRY S. GRAVES, of the Yale school of forestry, says that the passage of the McSweeney-McNary bill is of unusual significance.

Mr. Jackson, the state forester of Kentucky, says that the United States now will have the most comprehensive forestry research legislation ever enacted.

We cannot go on spending vast sums of money running up to the billions of dollars unless we base our actions on facts, instead of guesses and hopes, says Franklin Moon, of the College of Forestry at Syracuse.

The bill referred to is H. R. 6091 to insure adequate supplies of timber, the full use of growing timber and the proper research through the Department of Agriculture of reforestation and similar subjects.

The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to conduct such investigation as he may think necessary of reforestation, utilizing timber, prevention of erosion and protecting timber from fire, insects, etc. He may co-operate with institutions and private agencies in this and other countries. To accomplish this he is to be paid from the treasury not more than $250,000.

For investigations of forest insects, for forest experiment stations, etc., he is to be paid $250,000.

For determining the histories and habits of forest wild life he is to get $150,000.

For determining the influence of forests upon the weather he is to get $50,000.

For improving methods of management of watersheds and forest ranges, etc., he is to have $275,000.

For finding out the best way to preserve wood and for tests of wood for pulp and paper-making and the like he is to have about a million dollars.

The government is to co-operate with the various states and private agencies in making a comprehensive survey of all forestry business.

The government is not only interested in conserving the forests, but in properly utilizing them.

Until we tie up forestry somehow with the profitable utilization of wood products, and until we make forestation and the proper use of timber economically go hand in hand our projects will not get us anywhere.

The government is properly taking measures to prevent this from being a denuded country.

In addition to their influence upon the weather, and to the prevention of erosion and the control of the water supply forests are valuable for many other products for use in our civilized life. How many comfortable and necessary things in everyday life come directly or indirectly from wood.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE'S nothing I like better than a good row.

A reg'lar soot snorting, flame spitting, rib cracking rumpus!

During which I free my chest of the accumulated peeve of years and shoot the works all over the premises.

Yes, dearie, raising Cain is certainly my favorite indoor sport.

BUT—

There's just one drawback to a party like that. And that's cleaning up after it the next morning.

Down in Mexico they have a motto, "El que se enoja siempre tiene dos trabajos, El Enojarse y el Contentarse."

Which, when you eliminate the chill, means "THERE ARE TWO PROBLEMS TO EVERY ANGER. GETTING INTO IT AND GETTING OUT OF IT."

And I rise to remark, that's a mouthful!

Getting into a row—show me the red-blooded human that isn't strong for it.

What poses you can strike, what beans you can spill, what a noisy little hero you can make of yourself in just fifteen minutes of good old fashioned scrap! Particularly if it's a family fight.

BUT, OH, THE COLD STORAGE FEELING YOU GET AFTER IT'S OVER AND YOU TRY TO CLIMB BACK INTO THE OLD RUT AGAIN!

How about those vows you made? Those snooty remarks you broadcast?

Those threats and ultimatums you issued?

Now, that you've put yourself on record, what are you going to do about it?

You swore you'd never speak to her again. And what a grand and glorious moment that was. Mister Mussolini had nothing on you. But now that it's over—

Who's going to take care of the baby when you and Jim want to go to the movies?

Who's going to tidy up the house when you want to stay in bed with a sick headache?

And there's that little scene you pulled at the P. T. A. meeting—

Felt like the twentieth century Joan of Arc, didn't you, sister? But now that the smoke has cleared, what has it brought you? Just a lot of grief. And the rest of the girls are rolling along merrily, as per usual, while you're out in the cold.

Or there's that bawling out you gave the boss. Well—he's still the boss. And you're discovering that the market is simply glutted with bright young men who need a job.

In fact, the more you think of that fifteen minutes of mutiny, the less sure you are that it paid. It was great while it lasted, but it's going to make you just about as popular as a dose of hives for the rest of the year.

Yep—they certainly know their Hearts 'n' Flowers down there across the border. El Enojarse may be a riot—BUT, OH, YOU CONTENTARRE, THE COLD, GRAY MORNING AFTER.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Benevolence is a duty. He who frequently practices it, and sees his benevolent intentions realized, at length comes really to love him to whom he has done good. —Kant.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all easy. —Franklin.

The praise of the envious is far less creditable than their censure; they praise only that which they can surpass, but that which surpasses them, they censure. — Colton

Encourage such innocent amusements as may disenthrall the minds of men and make them mutually joy-

rejoice in the same agreeable satisfactions. —Addison.

Beauty is only that which makes all things as they are in their proper and perfect nature. —Dryden.

Every man is the maker of his own fortune, and must be, in some measure, the trumpet of his fame. —Dryden.

Every man is a missionary, now and forever, for good or for evil, whether he intends or designs it or not. —Chalmers.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Midsummer brings freakish electrical storm displays to Manhattan Island and instead of a populace hiding under beds or sitting on feather pillows they stand at windows with an admiring "Ah!" Nobody seems fearful of the flash of lightning and crash of thunder.

As I write, a bright, sunny morning was followed by a sudden pall of darkness and streaks of fire began playing tag with the surrounding skyscrapers. The illumination shows a press of faces at every window to watch the heavenly pyrotechnics.

There is something buoyant here about a cyclonic storm that sweeps so suddenly in from sea. It clears the atmosphere as refreshingly as the clean patter of rain that follows. The sun pops out in sudden splendor and the whole island has the headiness of a rare glass of wine.

It has always struck me New York acquires a storm jag. After it is all over there is a cheerfulness and vivacity. The pedestrian's step is lighter. Teamsters indulge in roguish familiarity. The traffic cop unbends and clerks are more ingratiating.

There are many people who, at the approach of a storm, race in their motors to Inspiration Point, a beautiful upward sweep of Riverside Drive. Across in the Jersey Hills the lightning disports with a levity, revealing flashes of the stately Palisades cowled in misty purple.

Then there is the glint of fire on the craft in the Hudson. Sailboats and canoeists seeking harbor. The river ripples with a joyous activity in a storm and in the stretch of apartment houses along the Drive there are thousands of Ajaxes clothed at windows to enjoy the spectacle.

Coogan's Bluff in Harlem also offers a gorgeous view of a storm. In the skyscraper areas it is marvelous how lightning seems to play hide and seek around the topless towers. It has none of the fright of the sudden bolt. Its manner is kittenish.

THE submission of pets to the custom of their master is revealed in a little cafe opening at dusk and closing at dawn in the Forties. The proprietor has two dogs, a cat and three canary birds. All sleep all day and are awake all night.

THREE first novels of American youths this season have shown a blighted air—a fog of futility. The idea, of course, is from the Russian. It is to the credit of a merry nation sales were slight.

AND with a half dozen student suicides at Eastern Colleges it is obvious there is something the matter somewhere. Either our colleges need a new set of professors or a new set of books. It is not natural healthy young men should lose so quickly all interest in life. Yet when one considers the hopeless drivel written by some of our academic gentlemen in the magazines it is little wonder youth is becoming so mentally tangled and discouraged.

FOR some time many writers, including myself, have been harping the younger generation is not so wild as pictured. Yet this morning in dropping a friend at an upper Park ave. apartment house he insisted I run in a moment. It was 5:30 o'clock and two girls not more than 18 and a young man of about 21 were on their second round of cocktails before breakfast. Fun is fun, but young folk should wait until noon. Drinking before breakfast might stunt their growth.

THE need for ordinary politeness is great among New York's motorcycle cops. Their attitude is snarling and impudent—another instance of the mistake in giving authority to those not capable of grasping its meaning. And to those who hoot, "What did you get a ticket for?"—I didn't.

SEVERAL New York doctors are discussing cradle rocking pro and con—a great deal I suspect is con. They say the custom is not only unhealthful, but in cases dangerous. Some mighty illustrious men and women, however, have survived it. But it does seem a few of us act as though we might have been rocked silly.

Sun's Wonderful Power

lated by this artificial sunlight which bombards the body with the "actinic rays," so valuable to health.

Natural sunshine contains these rays, of course, and lack of the health-giving rays accounts for diseases in children that live in slums of cities when the sun is shut out.

In Great Britain and in Germany thousands of children are treated with these rays to cure them of rickets, and other illness.

Recently the King of England won one of the "classic" British races for the first time in several years. The particular horse that won had been treated with artificial sunlight for months before the race.

If a powerful, highly fed race horse needs sunlight, how much more do the children need it.

But a great race horse WINS MONEY and is WORTH money. And a child is unfortunately NOT worth money or worth anything to anybody except to the father and the mother, too poor to get what it needs.

By the way, young gentlemen going without hats, you will notice that all of these athletes, bombarded by the actinic rays of artificial sunlight, wear eyeglasses. It would be dangerous to the eyes to expose them to the actinic rays, so the eyes have the protection of colored glasses. It is harmful especially for those that are blonde to expose their heads and eyes to the direct sunlight unprotected by a hat.
